FLOOD HITS OHIO VALLEY

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The first of the seasonal floods struck the Ohio and Tennessee river valleys today. They were precipitated by a heavy snow and rain storm sweeping northward from Arkansas and a southward rush of waters from northern tributaries.

Five deaths already had been reported in West Virginia. At Middlesboro, Ky., a wall of water five feet high engulfed the main street, flooding 20 blocks.

Tornadoes Hit At Cincinnati, the Red Cross was mobilizing on a disaster basis and 50 boats were standing by to respond to calls for help.

Here, the Ohio was expected to rise two feet above the 25-foot flood stage this morning. Tornadoes accompanied deluging thunderstorms in the south. Three towns were damaged yesterday: Columbia, S. C.; Lagrange, Ga. and Philadelphia, Miss. A child was killed when a windstorm overturned a Negro sharecropper's shack near Meansville, Ga. Twenty-one were injured and dozens of rural houses were destroyed by the wind storms.

Fear Warm Weather

The flood was descending upon the same areas ravaged by the 1937 flood. Its seriousness will depend mainly upon temperatures in the areas of northern headwaters the next few days. Warm weather with melted ice and snow but continued freezing temperatures would delay the onrush.

Rain and snow had been general throughout the eastern half of the United States for several days. The southern storm was crossing the Ohio valley today and was expected to blow itself out over the New England coast during the weekend. J. R. Lloyd, weather forecaster at Chicago, said temperatures of 15 to 20 degrees would prevail over the Ohio valley today.

Rivers Fall

The situation was: Pittsburgh—Meteorologist W. S. Brötzman reported at 4 a. m. that headwaters of flooded streams in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia had started falling. He said the Monongahela was crested at 27 feet, two feet above flood stage, here about noon, after having crested at Greensboro, 80 miles upstream, at 2 a. m. Water was spilling over a few low areas of the city's north side.

Cincinnati—Meteorologist W. C. Deveraux predicted crest of 55 feet, three feet above flood stage, for the Ohio, which was rising rapidly. Mrs. Ella Layne Brown, Red Cross director, had 50 boats manned and ready for rescue work at a moment's notice.

Families Flee

Aurora, Ind.—This town, still in the process of reconstruction from the 1937 flood, was threatened again as the Ohio passed 46 feet approaching the 53 foot flood stage. Lowlands were inundated and several families were moving out. Snowfall in 20 hours ending at midnight had broken four year records in southern Indiana. The snow was melting, adding to the overflow of small tributaries of the Ohio.

Clarksburg, W. Va.—John R. White, 80, farmer, was drowned in over-flowing Rotten creek. Telephone lines to Danville were down and although four persons were

Migrants In Plea For Probation

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Three Kern county dust bowl migrants today awaited the outcome of their pleas for probation after pleading guilty in United States district court here to charges of wholesale forging of government relief checks.

They were Ira E. Hamilton, 33, Homer E. Noble, 50, and Denver C. Rowe, 34, all of Arvin. According to secret service men and postal inspectors, the trio stole more than $1000 worth of Works Progress Administration payroll checks from rural mail boxes.

Samuel F. Hollins, court appointed attorney for the three men, made a plea for leniency before Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich.

Irish Bombs Again Rock London Areas

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Scotland Yard closed the houses of Parliament to the public today and took emergency precautions to safeguard historic Windsor castle because of a national terrorism campaign ascribed to the "Irish Republican Army."

A threat to the national defense industry was seen in a fire and explosion this morning at an airplane spare parts factory.

It was estimated that nearly 10,000 policemen and detectives were on emergency guard duty in the London area alone even before today's airplane factory explosion, which occurred two and a half miles from Windsor castle, the great gray pile which has come down as a national heritage from Norman times.

Mobilize Police Scotland Yard has mobilized all its vast resources after two sub-way explosions yesterday, and after receiving secret intelligence from Northern Ireland that extremists of the "Irish Republican Army" organization were planning a national campaign of dynamiting and possibly of assassination, it was reported.

At 4 a. m. today there was an explosion in a rheostat factory at Slough, near Windsor. The factory was making small parts for military airplanes. Whether or not the explosion was due to an incendiary bomb, fire flashed through shed after shed.

Receive Warning Scotland Yard executives and officials of the home office, in charge of police all over the country, hastened to the factory.

Reports followed that Scotland Yard had received information from Northern Ireland that tons of ammunition, arms, explosives and other munitions had been hidden.

JURY SEEKS TO QUIZ JUDGE EN ROUTE TO SOUTH AMERICA

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Federal authorities in Cristobal, C. Z., today were ordered to issue a subpoena upon Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas, en route there aboard the Grace Line Steamer Santa Barbara, to appear before a federal grand jury investigating the collapse of the McKesson & Robbins drug firm and the business affairs of federal Judge Martin T. Manton.

Thomas sailed for South America last night a half hour before the federal authorities issued a subpoena for his appearance. The authorities emphasized, however, that the subpoena for Thomas was written in the course of a general investigation of the affairs of "many judges" in the eastern district. President Roosevelt had ordered a "vigorous" inquiry of the federal judiciary.

Faces Probe At the offices of U. S. Attorney Gregory F. Noonan it was said that Thomas would be questioned more thoroughly than Manton, who also has been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury and present the records of his personal business transactions.

It was said that both Manton and Thomas must appear or be held in contempt of court. Neither can seek immunity according to an opinion written by Manton himself several years ago.

ALAMEDA JURY WIDENS SCOPE OF PROBE; TO QUIZ MERRIAM

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—One resignation, one dismissal from office and one indictment was the score today as Alameda county's grand jury dug deeper into charges of irregularities by members of ex-Governor Frank F. Merriam's corps of private secretaries.

The ex-governor himself was drawn back into the inquiry on testimony he had given state charges totaling more than $1000 to a man who did no work for the state but added in defeating a Merriam recall movement several years ago.

Drew Salary District Attorney Ralph Hoyt quoted George J. Calkins, San Jose insurance man, as saying he had been placed on the state payroll for seven months without any particular duties to perform. Each month he got a check for $165, he said.

Calkins said he asked Merriam what the money was for and was told: "Don't worry—just take the money and go about your regular business."

He also testified, Hoyt said, that Merriam offered him the checking concession at the new San Francisco terminal building in a deal in which Mark Lee Megladdery, Jr., one of Merriam's secretaries assertedly was linked.

Quit Under Fire Megladdery, appointed to a $9000 a year post as an Alameda county superior court judge shortly before Merriam left office, became the jury's first casualty when he resigned under fire. More recently the state personnel board ousted its secretary, George J. Claire, after Claire's name had been brought into the

REBELS TRAP LOYALISTS

PERPIGNAN, French-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The Spanish Nationalists, driving the Republican army into a trap along the French frontier and the sea, occupied Gerona at 10:30 a. m. today and battered at the last Republican defense line along the River Ter.

Gerona is 52 miles northeast of Barcelona and 34 miles from the French border. It had been selected as the temporary Republican capital hardly a week ago.

Strike Fast

The River Ter runs from east to west, roughly 30 to 35 miles from the frontier. The Nationalists were driving in two main columns, one along the highway near the coast which runs north through Gerona to Figueras and the border, and the other along the inland highway to the west which runs north from Vich, already captured.

Loyalist government leaders had begun to evacuate Figueras, only 15 miles from the French frontier, to seek a safer haven. United Press dispatches direct from Loyalist territory said the fall of Gerona was imminent and that the key city of Sea De Urgel, in northwestern Catalonia, might be lost today.

Loyalist press dispatches said that "hundreds" of bodies lay in

Man Unconscious Week Improves

Unconscious since 4:55 p. m. last Monday after an accident in which two cars collided head-on on Coast highway near Bay Island bridge, Henry E. Bates, 45, of 1145 South Bronson avenue, Los Angeles, was reported slightly improved today at Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Bates today became momentarily rational but lapsed into unconsciousness again. Bates suffered critical head injuries when cars driven by Elmo Sellers, 41, Los Angeles, and Maynard Stackhouse, 48, Santa Ana, collided. Stackhouse suffered fractured leg, cuts and bruises. Sellers, cuts about face and head. All were treated at the same hospital.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Three men were reported lost from the fishing boat Columbia off Cape Colnett, 150 miles south of San Diego, the coast guard was notified today.

The fishing boat Amelia radioed it had anchored alongside the Columbia, which is unequipped with radio facilities, and learned that three members of the crew had been lost overboard Sunday. Two of the bodies were recovered, the radio message said.

The coast guard said no details of the tragedy were given. The Amelia reported the Columbia was enroute to San Diego and would arrive here late today.

BIDS ON $145,000 BRIDGE JOB SOUGHT

Bids for a $145,000 bridge across the Santa Ana river on Santa Ana boulevard on 101 highway are to be opened at the office of the state highway engineer, C. A. Purcell, in the state building, Los Angeles, February 23 at 2 p. m. Specifications for the structure call for a reinforced concrete girder span consisting of eight 53-foot spans across the stream and two 48-foot spans at each end.

The major cost of the structure will be made from state funds accruing from the state gasoline tax and the city's share of the project amounting to about $53,000, will come from the city's share of the state gasoline tax.

Modern Type

The bridge will be of the most modern type with a raised strip three feet wide in the center and two 12-foot lanes on each side. The former bridge washed out in the flood of March 1938, had four 10-foot lanes without the center raised division line.

According to J. L. McBride, city engineer of Santa Ana, plans for a bridge of the length and width specified, were drawn up by state and city officials to provide for any possible overflow from Prado dam in an exceptional storm.

McBride pointed out that in a very exceptional storm, Prado dam would not be able to hold back all of the water coming down the Santa Ana river and some of it would go over the spillway. For this reason the bridge will be built to span a stream of water four or five feet deep and from 500 to 600 feet wide.

STATION ADDRESS GIVEN

In yesterday's report of fines levied against M. M. Stewart, Anaheim service station owner, for violation of the state gasoline substitutions act, it was inadvertently stated that his station is located at 101 highway and Ball road. The Stewart station is at 101 highway and Manchester boulevard.

"FAIR WAGE" QUESTION BASIS OF $100 REGISTER CONTEST

In the "Sharing the Comforts" column in this issue, the editor of the column announces another character building contest. This time he will give $100 for the best article of 500 words or less on "What Is a Wise Method of Arriving at a Wise or Fair Wage?" or by what method should the amount of wages each worker receive be arrived at so that the people as a whole will be more prosperous.

In order to give the younger people an equal chance in the contest and one that has caused test, two groups have been established—those 25 years of age or under in one group and those 26 years of age or older in another group. $50 will be given to each group. The best article in each group will receive $20; the next best $10; the next $5; the next $7 and the next $3.

As the editor of the column says, winning the prize is not nearly as important as the discipline to the winner, and the feeling that he has been of service to his fellowman by presenting a controversial question in a clear manner. There the awards will be announced soon. No. 293.

U.S. Bomber Rushes Supplies To Chile

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Feb. 4.—(UP)—A giant army bomber carrying medical supplies for Chilean earthquake victims swung southward from the United States mainland tonight toward Panama, where it will stop overnight on its 4400 mile mercy flight.

Major N. M. Stewart, chief of radio communications at Langley Field, said the bomber reported by radio at 12:35 p. m. that it was half-way between Miami, Fla., and Cuba and expected to land in Panama between 6:30 and 7 p. m.

Bucks Headwind The bomber has averaged slightly more than 150 miles an hour since it left Langley Field at 6:33 a. m. today. Stewart said it was flying at about 2500 feet and expected to meet strong headwinds before it reached Cuba.

The big ship, largest bomber in the world, will take off from Panama for Santiago, Chile, at 3 a. m. tomorrow. A non-stop flight will not be attempted because of the heavy load of Red Cross and medical supplies that was being carried.

Cotton Plant Pickets Withdraw

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Picketing of the Boswell cotton plant at Corcoran, Cal., was suspended today according to the terms of a truce negotiated by gubernatorial Secretary Kenneth I. Fulton, Kings county officials and representatives of disputants.

The controversy arose over the asserted removal of two American Federation of Labor pickets from the Boswell plant last Monday. E. F. Prior, secretary of the AFL, charged the pickets were forced by 200 farmers, under threat of bodily harm, to leave their posts in the picket line. The pickets were protesting shipment of goods in non-union trucks.

The settlement was arranged, pending another hearing next Tuesday at Hanford.

Traffic Deaths In State Hit New 5-Year-Low; County Total Drops

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—California traffic deaths decreased 11.6 per cent in 1938 over 1937, with the total of 2775 fatalities the lowest in five years, Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California Highway Patrol announced today.

San Joaquin county, with a rural reduction of 28 deaths, won the highway patrol cup. Riverside and Ventura were tied with 22 each.

In Orange county, there were 68 deaths in 1938, 77 in 1937; 79 in 1936; 40 rural deaths in 1938; 59 rural deaths in 1937, representing a decrease of 19 in the rural area in 1938 over 1937.

Lauds Patrol
The state reduction in 1938 over 1937 was 364 and the rural reduction, 188.

Cato revealed that 67 per cent of the total decrease in fatalities occurred in rural territory under jurisdiction of the patrol. There were six counties out of the state's 58 which were unchanged, 32 had a reduction and 20 had increases.

The honor roll for rural death decreases included: San Joaquin, 28; Riverside, Ventura, 22; Orange, 19; Imperial, 18; Yolo, 17; Kings, 16; Sacramento, 16; Merced, 14; Shasta, 12; Humboldt, Los Angeles, 11; Contra Costa, 9; Madera, 7; Alameda, 6; Kern, San Bernardino, San Luis Obispo, 5; Marin, 3; Butte, Lake, Modoc, Napa, San Benito, Siskiyou, Sutter, 2; and Amador, Glenn, Mendocino, Plumas, Sierra, Tuolumne, 1.

Increases

Counties showing no rural change were Del Norte, Monterey, San Francisco, San Mateo, Solano and Yuba.

Victor Killick, patrol statistician, said the state totals for the past 10 years were: 1938, 2775; 1937, 3139; 1936, 3132; 1935, 2806; 1934, 2805; 1933, 2403; 1932, 2366; 1931, 2591; 1930, 2384; 1929, 2244.

Showdown Looms

The President and a group of Senators were headed toward a showdown on foreign policy and publicity of secret discussion of armaments sales to European democracies.

Sen. H. Styles Bridges, R., N.H., demanded that members of the Senate military affairs committee be freed to tell their version of their secret discussion with the President.

"I am absolutely opposed to any more secret meetings," Bridges said. "I say lift the lid on secrecy."

"I attended the meeting with the President. I have been bound and feel I am now bound to secrecy. But if the President can tell his version of what was said at the meeting, members of the military affairs committee should have the right to give their versions."

Other interested senators spoke similarly but were reluctant to permit use of their names.

Solons Disagree

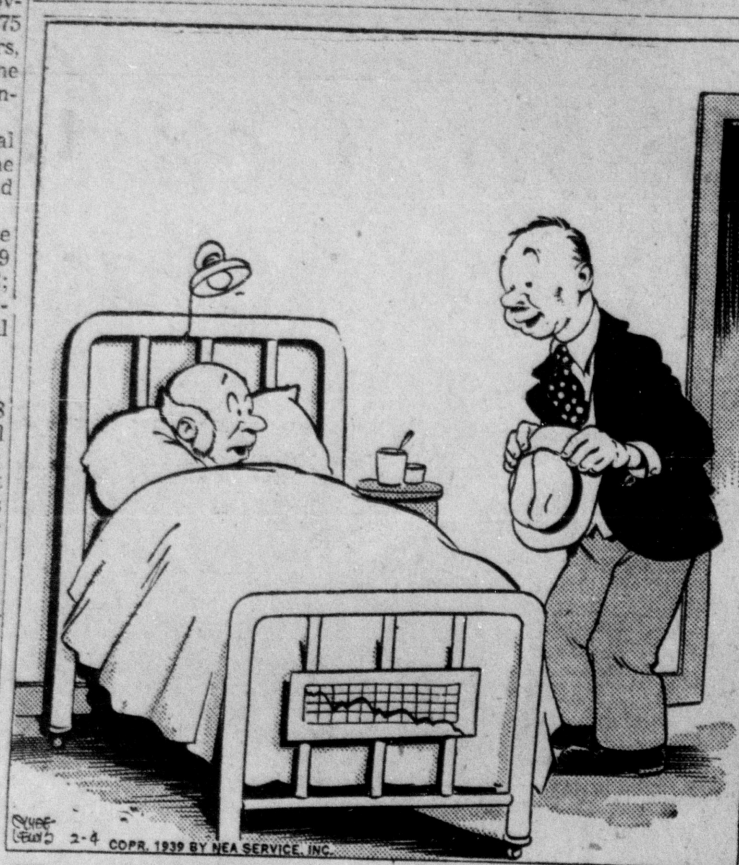

The showdown may come Monday when the Senate next meets or it may be delayed until Friday after the Senate military affairs committee again considers publishing testimony relating to special consideration given a French air mission seeking to buy American fighting planes for cash.

Unable to agree yesterday, the committee postponed a decision until its next meeting. Sen. Bennett Clark, D., Mo., said he would appeal to the Senate if the committee kept the record a secret.

Mr. Roosevelt's restatement of foreign policy may have been designed to sidetrack the Senate attack on secrecy and criticism of such cooperation as may have been extended France. But the first reaction of some of the most interested senators was to persist in their challenge and committee members still disagreed on what was discussed at the secret conference.

One said that the President had said the United States line of defense had necessarily been moved from Great Britain to France. But another understood it differently—that the whole import of the President's conversation was that the United States must rally to support France and Britain, and that they had been our first line of defense for many years.

TRUCK LOAD LAW THREATENS BUMPER TEXAS CITRUS CROP

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 4.—(UP)—J. E. McDonald, Texas agriculture commissioner, today asked for martial law to save the lower Rio Grande valley's record breaking citrus crop.

He urged Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to declare the state of emergency to overcome a stringent truck load limit law that is piling up thousands of tons of grapefruit.

Must Use Trucks

Growers say at their prevailing prices of $10 a ton, they must ship by truck. Such vehicles come under the 7000 pound limit law, now an issue before the legislature. After several days of minor disorder in the valley with weight checkers, 44 trucks tied together yesterday raced through a police blockade at Alice at 60 miles an hour. One weight inspector narrowly escaped the charge.

State highway 66 across sands of three counties is sole outlet for the bumper crop in the irrigated orchards on the Rio Grande. State police rushed reinforcements there today.

Delay Hearing

"Every day's delay threatens loss of the remainder of a perishable crop from a gulf storm, a freeze or appearance of the Mexican fruit fly," said McDonald. He was informed that 107 trucks, mostly from Oklahoma were held up at Alice over the weight argument.

The house committee put off a hearing until February 21. McDonald said the citrus crop would reach 14 million boxes, compared with 2 and one-half million last year.

Rescuers Reach Snowbound Town

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Snowbound residents of Los Tapias, 50 miles east of here, changed their "help" signal in the snow to "all ok" today.

William Cutter, New Mexico pilot, dropped a 30-day supply of food and medicine to the isolated community to relieve hunger and sickness. Previously New Mexico patrolmen succeeded in their efforts to break through the deep, crusted snow of the mountainous trails to reach the hamlet. They were able to take medical supplies only on their trip by horseback.

A private airplane pilot had sighted the distress signal while flying over the community last Tuesday.

6000 Workers End 4-Day Strike

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(UP)—A four day strike of 6000 building maintenance workers ended today with a compromise whereby the workers got $1 a week wage increase and had their work week reduced from 48 to 47 hours.

The strike had halted elevator and heating services in hundreds of buildings and 100,000 fur and garment workers had been made idle.

Today former residents of North Dakota are celebrating their annual winter picnic at Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles. On Feb. 11 former residents of "The Badger State" will meet for the Wisconsin winter reunion and on Feb. 12 former Coloradans will hold their celebration. Both affairs will be held at Sycamore Grove park.

Ernest Crozier Phillips, head of the jaysce drama department, announced today. Phillips revealed it was unnecessary for students to be enrolled in a drama class to take part in the casting. "Pygmalion," is one of the outstanding Shaw comedies.

Members of the Santa Ana junior college chapter of the Y.W.C.A. have again opened their jaysce bookstore, offering students a wide variety of used books, Helen Allison, sale chairman, announced today. Miss Allison, recently appointed by President Stella Christ, to succeed Helen Hicks, last year's bookstore head, stated that the group was prepared to offer volumes in nearly all fields of work carried on at the junior college.

Members of the last semester's board were Bill Swift, Lantz, Miss Butler, Swanger, Phyllis Kogler, Jack Brunkin, Roy Potter, Frank Was, Peggy Paxton, Velarde and Richardson.

NEW ALASKA STORM MOVES SOUTHWARD
SANTA FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Another storm from Alaska is moving southeast along the coast and will reach Northern California Sunday afternoon or Monday, the weather bureau said today.

The storm will be general throughout the western state with rain and snow, the bureau predicted.

A storm which gripped California yesterday was moving inland over Nevada and Arizona bringing a lull of clear, bright weather in Northern California.

Showers were forecast tonight for Southern California. Somewhat lower temperatures generally tonight were also predicted.

Mooneys Agree To Separate

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Tom and Rena Mooney went their separate ways today in a definite end to a marriage that survived—to appearances at least—the 22 years Mooney spent in San Quentin prison.

Mrs. Mooney, who has been working on a WPA music project for $45 a month, gave out the first public announcement of their separation.

Now 61, she was bitter in her announcement that Mooney wanted a divorce, which she said she would not grant.

"I've spent the best years of my life for Tom," she said. "He can't discard me now. I'll go to court and fight his efforts to the last ditch."

Although the sun broke through the clouds by midmorning, the forecast of the weather bureau was showers tonight and cloudy skies tomorrow.

reported drowned there, details were not learned. Heavy rains had swamped small streams throughout the area.

The snowfall measured eight inches yesterday at Evansville, Ind., and Cairo, Ill., and rains measured 3.88 inches in a 24 hour period at Stearns, Ky., 2.02 inches at Knoxville, 2.04 inches at Memphis. At Fort Smith, Ark., there were five inches of snow.

Potomac Rises
The Mississippi, outlet for all the waters, still was showing no appreciable rise but the weather bureau at Cairo, Ill., predicted it would reach flood stage of 34 feet by Feb. 11. No crest was predicted.

At Washington, the Potomac had risen sharply and parkways in Rock Creek park were flooded and closed to traffic. Weather bureau officials said there was no danger to the capital, although the river was seven feet above normal at chain bridge, three miles above Lincoln Memorial.

Eight Granted Divorce Decrees

Interlocutory decrees of divorce were granted to eight persons in superior court last yesterday, and two new divorce actions were filed. In one, Theo O. Hester charged Joseph E. Hester with cruelty. Benjamin F. Frederick alleged cruelty against Violet N. Frederick, charging that she associated with another man, Marvin McCain.

The divorce decrees were granted as follows: Helen Maples from Horace Maples, cruelty; Nellie Adair from Clarence M. Adair, cruelty; Ellis B. Griggs from Ruby P. Griggs, cruelty; James R. Prunty from Evelyn Prunty, cruelty; Evelyn Doran from George M. Doran, desertion; Henry Barkley from Inez Barkley, desertion; Charles L. Zimmerman from Froncie Zimmerman, desertion; Luella Jordan from Russell R. Jordan, desertion.

Four Jailed In Raid On Still

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Four San Francisco men, arrested in a raid on a huge illicit still near Herndon, today faced federal court sentences ranging from six month jail terms to a jail sentence and a $1000 fine.

Guissipi Balanesi, described by government attorneys as a principal in an asserted conspiracy to defraud the government of liquor taxes, was ordered to pay a $1000 fine and spend six months in jail. Silvio Rossi, now a W.P.A. worker, was fined $500. Louis Paoli, a neil and Frank Quilici were sentenced to six months in jail.

Taken into custody April 6, 1938, the four were charged with operating a still described by federal agents as one of the largest illicit plants seized since the repeal of the 18th amendment.

Prison Hunger Strike Ends

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, CAL., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Warden Court Smith announced San Quentin was back to normal today as 133 prisoners, holdouts of 4000 who staged a hunger strike against "too much hush," marched into the dining hall and ate breakfast.

The warden said he was mystified as to the real cause of the demonstration, which began Wednesday ostensibly in protest against monotony in prison fare.

Smith sought "gleaders," but said he had not decided what action he will take if he finds them.

The board of prison directors, meeting at the prison, studied the situation.

Rebel Troops Trap Loyalists

the ruins of Figueras after hours of almost unceasing airplane bombardments. United Press dispatches put the unofficial estimate of casualties at 50 killed and 200 wounded.

It was certain that the Nationalists were advancing on every front, that there was no sign that they could be stopped short of the frontier, and that catastrophe threatened the Loyalist army in Catalonia.

Loyalists Flee
The bombardment of Figueras disrupted completely the hastily organized emergency government establishment and the Nationalist army gave the embattled Loyalists no time to organize a real offensive. Again it was suggested that the idea of the new Loyalist stand was really to permit an orderly retreat into France and give the Republican government time to evacuate to central Spain and carry on the war from there.

Ancient Gerona, 20 miles south of Figueras, crumbled under the rain of shells from Nationalist artillery.

The first gyroscope was installed in an airplane over 29 years ago.

ASK BLANKET DISMISSAL FOR 34 ON TRIAL IN WPA SCANDAL

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Defense counsel for 34 persons on trial, including the sister and son-in-law of Senator Dennis Chavez, planned today to ask a blanket dismissal of W.P.A. political conspiracy charges against them.

Federal Judge Colin Neblett dismissed the indictment against Fred Healy, former New Mexico WPA administrator and another defendant, saying there was "no doubt in my mind that evidence clearly shows Healy put forth effort to halt coercion and, political intimidation of relief workers."

May Take Stand
If Neblett refuses to dismiss the other indictments, Chavez himself probably will take the stand in a surprise move to refute government charges that Chavez partisans directed WPA votes against his enemies. Chavez returned here from Washington to assist the defense of his sister, Mrs. Anita Tafoya, and his son-in-law, former U. S. Assistant Attorney Stanley Miller. But he has not said if he would testify.

The government rested its case yesterday after presenting 94 witnesses to tell of a bitter political feud involving Chavez and former Gov. Clyde Tingley, in which WPA employees took active parts in three political campaigns. The defense had summoned most of its witnesses for Monday and Neblett recessed trial until then.

False Testimony
Ledy was arrested in San Jose five minutes after the indictment was returned and held under $7500 bail. He was reported to have admitted testifying falsely when first questioned in regard to charges $1250 had been paid to Magdallery and Edwin Geary, Oakland attorney, in a deal to obtain executive clemency for him.

Hoyt said Ledy gave him a new version of the payment in a lengthy statement made in the hope he would not be returned to prison for life.

As these developments occurred, Frances A. Cochran, another former secretary of Merriam's, appeared voluntarily for questioning on testimony that $3,000 had been involved in the commutation of sentence granted Joseph Salvadore, Visalia double slayer.

Surrenders
After Hoyt and Attorney General Warren announced a secret state-wide search for Cochran had failed to locate him, Cochran appeared and conferred with Charles Wehr, deputy attorney general.

Two brothers of Salvadore testified Cochran had referred them to Donald MacKay, Los Angeles attorney, when they sought to get Joseph pardoned or his sentence commuted. They put a $3,000 check in escrow, they said, and later learned in the newspapers that their brother's sentence had been commuted.

MacKay said he had not yet cashed the check. Hoyt said he would be called to the stand next week after the week-end recess.

Search Visitors
Scotland Yard then instructed Windsor police to take all precautions against bombing attempts in the state departments of Windsor castle and St. George's chapel, which are open to visitors when the royal family are not in residence.

Visitors to the state apartments were required to open any large bags, brief cases and parcels for inspection before they entered the castle, and no bags, parcels or brief cases were permitted in the chapel.

PLANS SET FOR BOY SCOUT FETE MONDAY

With official U. S. Navy motion pictures as the feature for the evening, plans for the annual dinner meeting of Rotary Boy Scout Troop No. 24, together with a Parents' Night celebration, were completed here today, it was announced by Scoutmaster F. P. Nicky Jr.

In addition to the rare pictures of the U. S. Fleet, Nicky said that pictures which were taken last year on the troop's trip to Canada also would be shown.

Public Invited

The dinner will be held at 6:30 p. m. in the cafeteria of the Frances Willard Junior high school, and the pictures will be shown about 8 o'clock. An invitation has been extended to the public to see the movie program, Nicky said.

Arrangements for the Navy pictures were made through the cooperation of George W. Stivers, chief yeoman, U. S. Navy, public relations department, Los Angeles, Nicky said.

Pleads Innocent To Manslaughter

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Paul Hinamon, 25, South Gate truck driver, today faced a jury trial in superior court after pleading innocent to charges of manslaughter and assault in connection with the fatal beating of Ajarito Kato, a Japanese farm worker, here New Year's eve.

Judge H. Z. Austin continued the case two weeks for setting of a trial date.

Walter R. Bier and Clifford D. Foster, Santa Cruz youths, pleaded guilty to burglary charges. Sentence will be pronounced Monday.

Quads' Parents Turn Down Offer

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Badgett, parents of Texas' new quadruplets, refused an offer today of $100,000 for a one-year personal appearance contract for the babies.

The quads, all girls, have been sought by many promoters but the $100,000 figure was the top price offered to date. Dr. W. J. Jinkins, Sr., the Badgett physician, said the family would decline all commercial offers until the babies are older.

The babies—Jeraldine, Jeanette, Joyce and Joan—were born Wednesday and were reported getting stronger day by day.

Truce Declared In Port Strike

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(UP)—An armistice in a waterfront labor dispute remained in force today, forestalling another shutdown of Los Angeles harbor.

A 30 day truce that expired last night was extended another 15 days by the Marine Cargo Checkers and the waterfront Employers. They said negotiations are "progressing satisfactorily."

The checkers demand a straight hourly wage and a greater spread of work.

DEATH LURKS IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Seven persons were injured yesterday, three seriously, in Orange county vehicle accidents, according to reports of police and hospital authorities on five accident cases.

Mateo Dearos, 1706 West Fourth, was driving west on First street, at 3:25 p. m. shortly after a heavy rain, when he lost control of his truck while driving through a dip filled with water, at Lyons street, swerved to the left and collided with a car head-on, police were informed. The car was driven by Henry Parga, 1030 Lincoln, who is in critical condition at Orange county hospital, with basal skull fracture.

Three In "Head-On"
Parga's companion, Andre Vasquez, 1334 Lincoln, it in the same hospital, suffering severely cut lip and broken ribs while another companion, Pedro Salido, Anaheim, was but slightly injured.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, in a head-on crash on Manchester near Euclid avenue at 10:22 o'clock last night between cars driven by Homer M. Derr, 67, of 109 East Camille street, Santa Ana, and Ed Callison, 24, of the Phillips apartments, Olive.

Mrs. Derr, 67, is at St. Joseph hospital with a broken hip, broken left arm and possible broken ribs, while her husband escaped with lacerations.

Other Accidents
Callison has a possible fractured ankle and bruises.

Ralph McAndrews, 409 East Stafford, reported his bicycle and a car driven by Donald Scherbert, 315 West Second, collided at Fourth and Broadway but he was not injured. At the blind intersection of Washington and Sycamore, considered one of the city's most dangerous corners, a car driven east on Washington by Donald Boyd, 812 North Van Ness, and a car driven south on Sycamore by Carroll Keith, 16, Beverly Hills, collided. None was injured although seven persons were in the Keith car.

BACKS CURB OF FARM ACTIVITY

There will be no stability in the nation's economy until the three great economic forces, industry, labor and agriculture, unite for common good and bring about a balance of income.

This was the substance of an address by R. D. Flaherty, organization director of the Western division of the American Farm Bureau Federation, at a meeting of the Santa Ana Realty board yesterday at the Rossmore cafe.

"There has been much discussion of the proration of farm products," Flaherty said, "but it seems to be a recognized fact that industry and labor regulated their production to fit the needs of the business."

"Industry only manufactures such products as it has a sale for, and labor, through the immigration laws regulates the supply of labor. Yet these two groups feel that the farmer should go ahead and produce as full a crop as possible and put it on the market whether there is a sale for the product or not. We must limit crops to avoid overproduction and bring about a balance between industry, labor and agriculture. These critics of crop limitation are the very ones that practice the opposite policy. In the publishing field, for instance, the newspaper has the facilities to publish many times the number of papers that it has subscribers but the daily output of papers only fills the need of the actual subscribers. Is it not reasonable that the farmer should only produce the commodities he can sell?"

President Ray Goodcell was in charge of the meeting and Marie J. Gothard introduced the speaker of the day, Mrs. Flaherty and R. D. Hull, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, were guests at the meeting.

WILL OFFICER GETS 60-DAY SENTENCE

Denied probation, Will Officer of Fullerton, was sentenced to 60 days imprisonment yesterday by Superior Judge Franklin G. West, for assault with a deadly weapon. The court ordered that Officer be placed in the county hospital and assigned light work, at the same time receiving medical attention.

Officer had pleaded guilty to the charge, which was based upon his action in shooting his son-in-law, Bert Norris, of Santa Ana, with a shotgun. Norris escaped with light wounds. The offense occurred last October 29 at Fullerton.

NOTED ARTIST COMING TO S.A.

Another noted artist has been engaged by the Orange County Concert Series for their next program at Santa Ana High school auditorium on Friday evening, February 10.

Kathryn Meisle, leading contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company, nationally recognized as one of our foremost artists in opera, concert and on the radio, has selected an interesting program for the occasion.

Concert Pianist
A native of Philadelphia, Miss Meisle is purely American-trained. She began her musical career at the early age of five and made her debut as a concert pianist. Her possibilities as a singer were detected by her father, who was a musician.

Her background as an accomplished pianist and her knowledge of the technicalities of music construction gave her a strong foundation for her career as a singer.

Perseverance Wins
Strange as it may seem, Miss Meisle confesses she had no particular ambition as a youth to become a singer. "My father just made me," she gave as reply to "To what do you owe your success?"

Her position today as a favorite in concert and opera stands out as a meritorious reward for her stick-to-it-iveness and her down-right musicianship, for Miss Meisle had no easy task in hand when she undertook the study of Wagnerian roles and the strenuous task of training her voice.

OVER THE TRANSOM

Mimeographed sheets with dramatic illustrations of a day at the dentist's were the practical tests distributed the past week to second year Spanish students at Newport Harbor Union high school.

"From a fat 48 to a slim 34" read the advertisements and no doubt Dottie, pet cat of Constable and Mrs. William Ponting of Costa Mesa finally decided to keep the other cats from talking, and really take some definite action. Two months ago at 27 pounds, the 10 year old pedigreed orange Persian cat was a stumbling block in its own way every time and direction in which it tried to walk. Now, only pleasantly plump at 17 pounds, the cat continues a moderately reducing diet under the direction of Mrs. Ponting.

Making practical use of his last name, Andy Skipper, a former Newport Beach resident and student at Newport Harbor Union high school is en route to the South Seas according to word received by a member of the high school faculty. Skipper sailed on a cargo boat from British Columbia to San Francisco bound from there to Tahiti, other South Sea Island ports and Australia.

More than 50 years ago some one planted a pepper tree on what is now Short street between Commonwealth and Amerigie avenues in Fullerton. This week the city lost that landmark which has seen it through prosperous and poor seasons, the growth of generations, reflecting in its branches, much of the fabric of which the life and activities of the city were made.

Recognized as one of the pioneers in the younger men's service clubs, that of the 20-30 movement, Charles Atwell of Anaheim received recognition of that work this week with his election as an honorary member of the Anaheim club. Atwell was one of the early 20-30 members, and at one time served as a sponsor for the Brawley club.

"FAITH" THEME OF CHURCH TALK

Dr. Carl Sumner Knopf's discussion of "The Chronicle's Faith" will provide the assembly address at next Wednesday evening's church night program in the First M. E. church, second of an eight week series, on the theme, "Bible By-Paths."

Others On Program
Dinner will be served at 6 p. m., followed by 10 minutes of "fellowship moments," then the assembly address at 6:45.

At 7:35 the various groups begin their study, each under a leader. The World Travelers group, studying "Christianity in World Situations," will hear Bert L. Cooper, of Claremont, discuss world missions. The Rev. J. H. Hattie Odgers, pastor of Richland Avenue church, heads a group studying the book, Peppita. Mrs. Jennie Tammann of Santa Ana junior college faculty, leads another group in a discussion of "Religion and War." Mrs. Helen McArthur's group takes up "Advancing with History and Poets." Ralph C. Smedley's group studies "Some Problems of Christian Citizenship in Santa Ana."

The boys and girls hold an assembly hour at 6:45 under leadership of Mrs. P. Smith Bogart, and will attend classes for various ages at 7:35.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Despite all the talk you hear about neutrality legislation there probably will not be any this session. The administration cannot get anything it would take on this subject through either house of congress, and has discovered it by careful checking. It may, therefore, permit existing law to expire, figuring nothing is better than something for the purposes of what legislators now are calling "Mr. Roosevelt's private foreign policy."

Senate move to smoke out Mr. Morgenthau's handling of the $2 billions stabilization fund is being made not only to expose what he has done in Europe—but to stop what is being privately planned in South America.

The treasury secretary's two South American emissaries (employees he borrowed from the state department trade agreement division) are now on their way back. Preceding them here are confirmed reports that they have ideas about using the stabilization fund to facilitate exchange and promote credits.

No one professes to know the details yet, but senators are determined to break up any inside expansion of stabilization fund policy which would use the fund for trade instead of purely dollar-protection purposes.

Commerce department officials show no improvement whatever in exchange restrictions against U. S. products in Latin America since the Lima conference. Commerce's own headlines read: "Argentina—no improvement"; "Chile—exchange situation unsatisfactory"; "Brazil—exchange for later maturities."

These mean that Argentine exchange control continues practically to shut off American trade; that Chile at the end of January had failed to grant about $4 million dollars of applications for sterling and dollar purchases; and that Brazil, friendliest of the Latins, has adopted a peculiar practice. Brazil will grant 30-day clearances to importers of American goods who deal with the Bank of Brazil, but others must wait three months, without interest. As this arrangement is working out, the U. S. is better off than other nations dealing with Brazil, but no one here is very happy about other Latin prospects.

You may have surmised it was something of a shock to Agricultural Adjustment Administrator Evans when he opened the mail one morning this week and found a letter from "The Conference of Wheat Farmers" suggesting the AAA program was basically sound and should be continued.

The cool official dignity of the letter suggested he did not know the people very well. It started off "Dear Mr. Evans" and concluded abruptly—not even a "yours very truly." The AAA gave it to the press without further ado, encouraging a supposition the endorsement of Mr. Wallace was a bolt from the blue.

It was really not a bolt, but a rivet, and instead of emanating from the blue, it came from folks who know Mr. Wallace very well. In fact half of them work for him.

The Conference of Wheat Farmers was 44 "wheat farmers" of whom 22 are in the AAA. Eleven were AAA state committeemen, appointed by Mr. Wallace and paid by the AAA on a per diem basis. Another 11 were AAA county committeemen elected by farmers cooperating in the AAA program and paid by the AAA on a per diem basis. The remaining 22 are not connected with AAA at present, although some of them are former committeemen.

This is not necessarily an indication that Mr. Wallace is slipping. It is true that the conference of cotton farmers here a few weeks earlier, a majority of those present to approve the AAA were AAA employees, and the issue was never in doubt. But the announced letter to Mr. Evans justified Mr. Wallace's judgment in taking the

BUENA PARK FIRE LADDIES CELEBRATE

BUENA PARK, Feb. 4.—In observance of the 24th anniversary of the Buena Fire Station on West Ninth street with firemen and their families and guests Friday evening. Guests were seated at one long table decorated with bowls of Chinese lilies and valentines. Another feature of the dinner was the beautifully decorated birthday cake.

On behalf of the entire organization Percy Owens presented Wm. Tice with a fountain pen in recognition of his 24 years of service, also a pen to Lester Scofield for his ten years of service. Scofield who has been secretary and drill master of the team is resigning on account of other duties.

The Buena Park Fire Department originated on Dec. 9, 1915 with J. F. Simpson, president; C. H. Owens, chief and L. G. Robeson, assistant chief. The first fire truck was a two wheel hose cart and ladder purchased for eight dollars. It consisted of one dozen water buckets, 2 two and a half gallon soda and acid extinguishers and sacks and an axe. The department in the early days was housed in a barn on the I. D. Jaynes property. The fire alarm was the bell at the Congregational church and had an extra clapper on it with which to sound the alarm.

In June 1916 a four wheel trailer and four more 2 1/2 gallon chemicals were purchased. A fire house was next acquired which still stands in the form of a garage on the J. F. Simpson property on Eleventh street with the letters E. F. F. D. still on the building.

In July 1918 they raised enough money to buy a $450 extinguisher and a little later they purchased their first siren. On August 5, 1920 occurred the first big fire, Johannes Bros. chili dryer which covered five acres after which they bought another chemical tank and trailer.

In 1923 they bought their first motorized fire truck, which was a national automobile on which they mounted part of their equipment.

The next purchase was in 1926 a new Reo speed wagon on which they mounted a pump also securing 1000 feet of hose from Los Angeles.

In 1929 the present fire district was formed and the building was built, the old building having burned. At this time a new truck was also purchased.

At the present time these men make up the personnel of the department: Percy Owens, chief; Claude Allin, battalion chief and secretary; Caryl Snyder, president; Lester Scofield, drill master; Wm. Tice, treasurer, also Preston Owens, Rodney Jackson, M. D. Coger, I. H. McGee, Otto Austin, Frank Schumacker, Henry Legari, Frank Wilsey, Clarence Jaynes, John Schiller, Richard Nelson and Charles Hillman.

Frank Schumacker and Otto Austin baked the hams for the dinner and also arranged the tables and other details which made the dinner a fine success. Supervisor Harry Riley of Anaheim and Dr. Milton Couter of Buena Park, were invited guests.

Bodies of Fire Victims Sought

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Rescue crews searched today for the bodies of eight firemen buried under the wreckage of a fire razed warehouse.

The fire was extinguished yesterday noon, but tons of brick, mortar, tin and huge beams still were piled 40 and 50 feet high.

risk of having no more than an even half of the conference in his employ.

The letter would have been a shock to him and to Mr. Evans only if the result had been different, as they paid the railroad fares of the entire 44 to and from Washington.

JETSAM — Hopeful folks are saying TVA purchase of Commonwealth and Southern properties is being held up by a difference of only 40 millions. For all practical purposes, you may omit the "only." Forty million dollars is still a lot of difference. . . . Note that Hitler did not mention Russia in his Reichstag denunciation of all adversaries. The possibility of a deal still looks fair from here. . . . Threatened congressional investigation of WPA is out. Republicans intended to force it but the administration has wriggled out of their clutches. Changes already made and contemplated by congress in WPA law, plus the removal of Hopkins, leave nothing current for the Republicans to dig into. . . .

BUILDING AND REMODELING NEWS

EFFECT OF SUN ON ROOFS TOLD

While California's brilliant sunshine makes possible the growth of citrus and other semi-tropical fruits, it plays havoc with roofing, according to E. H. Barnes, owner of the Barnes Roofing company.

"During our 11 years in the roofing industry in Orange county we have had many home owners inquire about the feasibility of using wooden shingles over wooden shingles for modern roofing," Barnes said.

Insulation Board
"We have found that wooden shingles can be laid over the old wooden shingles or over composition shingles very successfully and it gives an added advantage. Because of the extra roof it acts as an insulation board and makes the home warmer in winter and cooler in summer."

"It has been our experience that use of only the very best of materials in shingles and copper-alloy ribbed valleys between the rows. The ribbed valley keeps the water from hitting the valley and back-washing under the other side," Barnes said. "Any home owner interested in a check-up of his roof may have one without cost."

COLOR SCHEME FOR ROOM TOLD

"One of the most popular of all colors used for bathroom fixtures is ivory, particularly that beautiful shade called Ivorie de Medici," says E. J. Duke, district manager of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company. "It owes its popularity partly to its unusual adaptability, for it can be used under many different lighting conditions and in innumerable combinations with other colors, and partly to its conservatism."

It is interesting to learn how this particular shade of ivory got its name. As the story goes, the Sultan of Turkey had prepared for his faithful, Lorenzo de Medici, a beautiful vase. This vase excited the admiration of the whole Christian world not only because of its graceful shape, but also because of its beautiful coloring. It was called Ivorie de Medici and today modern science and art have been able to reproduce this mellow tint which originated many centuries ago.

"The actual color scheme for a bathroom built around Ivorie de Medici can be developed in practically the same way as that for any other room. Let us assume that the room has a northern exposure. Then the walls may be of peach or apricot hue, thereby contrasting with the ivory and providing a warmth of color necessary to compensate for the exposure of the room to the cold north light."

"It is well to remember that a lower wall colors should never end at the half-way line. To divide the wall space into two exact divisions by a difference in color proves monotonous and harsh. It is much better to bring this peach color definitely above or below the center line. A delicate fawn or bisque tint completes the upper wall and ceiling. The woodwork repeat the peach color."

IMPORTANCE OF WALL-THICK INSULATION FOR HOMES CITED

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Many modern houses lose too much heat during the winter and gain too much heat during the summer, because their owners and builders do not appreciate the value of wall-thick insulation, according to Wharton Clay, secretary of the National Mineral Wool association.

"The importance of home insulation, is emphasized by the recent action of the Canadian equivalent of our FHA requiring the use of side wall and top floor ceiling insulation of a designated thermal efficiency in all new houses to be approved by it. Because of the contribution that insulation makes to health, comfort and fuel economy, building or health codes will eventually require its use in all residential structures."

Production Increases
"The production of mineral wool during the past year has reflected a growing trend towards the use of the thicker, more efficient insulating materials. Production of mineral wool bats and strips for the third quarter of 1938 was 88 per cent ahead of the first quarter, and 37 per cent ahead of the second quarter."

Shipments of granulated wool—widely used in remodeling and modernization work—were 66 per cent ahead of the first quarter and 123 per cent ahead of the second quarter figures.

This represents the production of the 25 leading manufacturer-members of the association producing 85 per cent of the industry's output.

The third quarter was also marked by the approval by the National Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., of mineral wool as a fire-retardant in wood stud partition, finished with wood lath and plaster, a one hour fire rating, and one finished with metal lath and plaster, a one and a half hour rating. These are the only fire endurance tests of any length ever given to a home insulating material."

Your Garden

Even the tiniest garden can contain a maximum of beauty and comfort as long as you've a little grass, and a few shrubs. Just spread the color on with a lavish hand—some artificial and some supplied by nature. Even if its only the back yard of limited scope that the big city dweller proudly calls a garden, the little plot can be a garden indeed.

Of course, there's the big essential—flowers. If the earth isn't right for raising them just grow them in pots—potted plants are "right," even for the most formal and sumptuous of gardens. And then paint those pots in bright colorful coats of enamel—blue, yellow, white, green, pink, purple—what you will.

And of course there's that other necessity—a place to sit and enjoy the summer breezes and watch things grow. An old wicker chair repainted to blend in with those flower pots, with colorful waterproof cushions. And here's a tip passed on from good authority. A grand way to repaint wicker furniture is to fill a cleaned out Flit gun with enamel and then spray away. It's as much fun as spraying potato bugs off the vines, and it's just as efficient—the enamel gets into every crevice and every crack. Then there's the ever-popular deck chair, bright and cheerful with the same enamel coat. Next, an old table in a new coat of color, for the sort, and it will cost you hardly anything—just the price of the enamel or you can make a perfectly grand tea table out of an old wheelbarrow.

Place an extra nail-shelf over the top, paint the whole body one bright color, and the wheels, handles and legs another. It's as attractive a piece of garden furniture as you could find. In the shops. Even dirt, and grime, rain and storm can't hurt this furniture—the enamel takes to water as to a brother and comes forth as clean, fresh and true-colored as the day you put it on.

Even critical eyes would look at your little garden spot with envy and admiration after a work-out of this sort, and it will cost you hardly anything—just the price of the enamel and a bit of your time, effort and ingenuity.

REALTOR CITES IMPROVEMENT POSSIBILITIES OF BAY REGION

By RAY GOODCELL

President of the Santa Ana Realty Board
Subdividers in the earlier days of California gave little thought to improving land to its highest use, or at least it seems so to us today.

Conspicuous among several such horrors of the past. It is a pity that this choice property, the mesa known as Newport Heights, a above the bay was subdivided and sold with so little consideration of its future. If it were still raw land, it would surely be a paradise for some skillful city planner and landscape designer.

If only restrictions had been effected requiring improvements of definite value or supervised architecture, there would have been less damage done. And even now, if all the unimproved and some of the improved properties could be acquired and redeveloped, this unexcelled coastwise are could be saved and put to proper use.

Imposing Homes Built
In contrast to the major part of the district, there are some imposing homes built on the bluff and an occasional small one of considerable charm nearby. However, the plain little places, unkept and unsightly, are no asset to so coveted a territory.

But make no mistake, it is not necessarily wealth or high cost of construction that makes for beauty. The smallest structure, properly designed and cared for, can be most attractive, and this is evidenced by the inexpensive homes erected on Lido and Balboa islands.

Further proof of what could be done on this mesa can be assumed from the attractiveness of the Newport Harbor Union High school. Those who were responsible for it could well extend their talents to the improving and restricting of the neighboring territory. Any effort made now along this line would pay big dividends in the future. Perhaps there is still the possibility that these heights will prosper and improve along with the rest of the harbor.

Paradise For Planner
With these improvements now a reality, it is easy to see the new work can be a darker or lighter shade of peach and the floor an eggplant or chocolate color. The design on the floor covering may repeat the peach color."

S. A. BUILDING IN NEW RECORD

The greatest month of home building in the city in the past, 14 years is the record set by Santa Ana during January of this year. This month 37 homes are under construction with a total of $17,1000, the highest since the "boom" month of February, 1925, when 52 homes were started. Valuation at that time was $207,300.

In addition to the homes, a business building valued at $11,000 and two service stations totaling $5000, brought the monthly total to $204,190, nearly four times as much as the month of January in 1938.

EMERGENCY OPERATION

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 4.—Mrs. India McDaniel, Noble Grand of Aloha Rebekah lodge of Westminster, is a patient at Santa Ana Valley Hospital where she was rushed for an emergency operation, less than a month since Mrs. McDaniel's only daughter, Miss Linda McDaniel, High school student, was operated and is now convalescing at home.

CHURCHES

of SANTA ANA REORGANIZED LATTER DAY SAINTS

THE PASTOR

A native of Philadelphia, Pa., the Reverend L. J. Ostertag, pastor of the Reorganized Latter Day Saints Church, first entered the service of his denomination in 1912. While a resident of "the Quaker City" he attended Drexel Institute where he was graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering.

His theological training was received in the training centers of the church as well as post graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and at Temple University. Reverend Ostertag came to Santa Ana in 1933 from Phoenix, Arizona, where he had served the church for five years. He was ordained as a High Priest of his church in 1937. He resides with his wife, Madeline, at 411 North Flower street.

THE DENOMINATION

Following his death in 1844 at the hands of an infuriated mob in Carthage, Missouri, the followers of Joseph Smith II, founder of the Latter Day Saints church, wandered in confusion for 16 years until his son, Joseph Smith III, was elected president of the denomination.

It was at this time that those who followed the teachings of Brigham Young and the belief in polygamy split from those who were opposed to polygamy and followers of Smith. In 1888 after a long court trial, certain properties were given to each faction and the word "Reorganized" was added to the Latter Day Saints. Joseph Smith III was leader of the church until his death in 1914 when he was succeeded by Dr. Fredrick M. Smith, a grandson of the founder.

History of the old "land grant" days in Orange county are recalled in the foundation of the Reorganized Latter Day Saints in Santa Ana.

It was in 1887 that Elder John Brush came to "Gospel Swamp," at that time located in squatter territory near Greenville. Soon after, the followers of the church were forced to vacate their location and in 1892 headquarters were set up at Ocean boulevard and Buaro road, Garden Grove. Here the church continued to grow and prosper and feeling the need of a new location the church was moved to Santa Ana, at the corner of First and Garfield streets.

In 1914 the church moved to its present location at West Fifth and Flower. Sixteen men and women made up the first charter of the church. They were: John Garner, P. M. Betts, J. C. Clapp, Polly Clapp, Loren Carter, Lonzo Carter, L. S. Ames, J. G. Walker, R. R. Dana, Samuel Crane, Chauncy Butterfield, Van Whistler, Charles Best, Newton Best, Henry Pankey and Ephriam Prothero.

The "branch," as the local churches are called, is one of 135 throughout the world. Among the pastors who have served the church are Levi Hemingway, Frank Burton, F. G. Pitt, George Wixom, V. M. Goodrich, Roy Sly, L. S. Rhodes, William Anderson, David B. Carmichael, T. W. Chapman, Albert M. Starkey, and the present pastor, L. J. Ostertag.

In the Reorganized Latter Day Saints church there is one institution presiding over all the educational work of the group. This is the Church School, with Mrs. Ostertag as supervisor. The Church School conducts Sunday meetings for children and adults as well as all sorts of night meetings that are concerned with education.

At the present time the church has a Ladies Aid Society, presided over by Mrs. Charles Calkins and a young people's society called Zion's League. David B. Carmichael, Jr., is president of the young people's group and Mrs. Edgar Miller is the supervisor.

The Santa Ana Register is sincere in its belief that Churches form the background of the cultural and high ideals of the community in which they are situated.

The Register also believes that the City of Santa Ana is most fortunate in the number and character of such institutions in its midst.

We feel that these institutions embody many activities that are of interest and are deeply appreciated because of their splendid endeavors.

With these thoughts in mind, a number of Santa Ana Churches have endorsed this idea and with the co-operation of many Santa Ana Businessmen and the Register, are presenting these pertinent facts of which this page is the 20th of the series.—The Editor.

FEATURED SCREEN ATTRACTIONS AT SANTA ANA THEATERS

INDIA TALE IS SCREENING NOW

A colorful chapter in the history of British rule in India, revolving around a native outbreak along the northwest frontier in the nineties, is the picturesque setting against which are laid the stirring scenes in the screen epic based on Rudyard Kipling's famous poem, "Gunga Din."

This film spectacle, which has been playing to capacity houses at the Broadway, carries a triple-starred cast with Victor MacLaglen, Cary Grant and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., sharing honors. This happy-go-lucky trio, playing the part of three sergeants of the Royal Engineers are stationed near Khyber Pass. When the telegraph line from the frontier mysteriously goes dead they are sent out with a party of men to repair it and come in contact with a murderous group of Thugs, the religious stranglers of India, and barely escape with their lives after a thrilling hand-to-hand battle. With the sergeants' party is Gunga Din (Sam Jaffe) a native water carrier. How they withstand the attack of the frenzied natives, and Gunga Din's sacrifice for his white friends, make a gripping climax for this action-charged picture.

"Gunga Din" ranks among the big pictures of all time and is one of the most impressive screen achievements in the history of films. Donald Duck, a special color novelty film and newsreel complete the program which will be held over until Tuesday, due to its popularity.

'Top' Films At State On Sunday Bill

"Gold Is Where You Find It," outdoor drama dealing with the war between California farmers and hydraulic miners of the 1870's, and "Cafe Metropole," gay Continental comedy romance, are scheduled for showing tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday on the State screen.

"Gold Is Where You Find It," based on a best-selling novel by Clements Ripley, stars George Brent and Olivia de Havilland, with Margaret Lindsay, Claude Rains and Barton MacLane. The bitter conflict in this romantic drama results when the hydraulic miners use powerful streams of water to tear away the hillsides and the farmers whose lands are ruined object by use of force.

"Cafe Metropole," as luxurious as orchids on ermine, merry as Mardi Gras party, brings Loretta Young, Tyrone Power, Adolphe Menjou, Gregory Ratoff, Charles Winniger and Helen Westley together. The story plot centers about a Paris night club operated by the almost-broke but unworried Menjou who wins enough from young Power to pay off the debts but finds Power unable to pay. From there on, when Menjou puts Power on the spot, forcing him to make love to Miss Young in order to win a marriage settlement from her wealthy father, the hilarity and action becomes terrific. Episode two of "Spider's Web," thriller starring Warren Hull and Iris Meredith, also screens.

JOAN CRAWFORD, BOB HOPE ARE STARS OF WALKER SUNDAY BILL

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, February 4.

I've just seen the greatest star in Hollywood get what that same star is seldom granted—a fair break. And what a grand piece of entertainment is the result! Gable, Power, Shearer, Temple, Garbo—they're all quite capable, too, but not one of them can "carry" a picture alone. This greatest of all stars can, for the super-star is THE STORY. And you'll seldom see story better presented than it is in Paramount's "Persons in Hiding"—the Class B picture I've just previewed.

J. Edgar Hoover wrote it; Louis King, a little known director, made it; Patricia Morrison and J. Carroll Naish, neither of whom rate stardom, played the leads. It costs approximately one-fourth of the amount that is spent on the same studio's Class A specials, and it packs just about four times the amount of real, nerve-tugging entertainment that is offered by most of Hollywood's colossals. And just two factors are responsible: the sincerity and power of the story, and the wisdom of the director who concentrated on sticking like a leech to his primary job, story-telling.

Sitting on the edge of my seat, watching that picture, I couldn't help thinking about the grandiose statements continually dished out to theatre-goers by the big shots of Hollywood—the men who insist on judging pictures by the amount of money they cost. Ask them what's wrong with Hollywood and they invariably answer that we must have "bigger and better" pictures. "Persons in Hiding" convinced me that they're exactly half right.

PERSONAL OBSERVATIONS: The first thing Fred MacMurray does after finishing a scene is to button his collar and slump. One more year in Hollywood and Fred's Bartholomew's only "Made-In-England" label will be his birth certificate. Maybe, I'm wrong, but it seems to me Deanna Durbin smiles less widely and less often than she did a year ago. Add stellar poses: George Raft's habit of carefully "pointing" his left foot. Odd, but Georgiana Young, Loretta's half sister, looks more like her than does either of her full-sisters, Sally Blane and Polly Ann Young.

It's a rare conversation into which Walter Beery doesn't manage to introduce some mention of flying. That tipsy swing of Henry Armetta's is chronic—he has to think twice before he can walk straight off-screen. If Dick Bartholomew would keep his left profile to the camera, he could still play juveniles; when he turns the other cheek, that scar makes him a natural for sinister roles. Nancy Kelly is a knuckle-popper. When Ginger Rogers is really interested, her left eyebrow resembles an elevator—always travelling up or down. June Lang, who smiles continually, seldom laughs. Director John Ford's pipe is a perfect storm warning for his actors—if he puffs hard, he's upset; if he puffs lazily, he's satisfied. Jack Oakie is going to cash in on his accident insurance one of these days if he doesn't stop leaning back so precariously in his chair. Rosemary Lane invariably reads the luncheon menu, item by item—and invariably orders a chicken sandwich.

For months the Messrs. Warner worried about Bette Davis because she was losing weight. They tried to shorten her working hours, used every ruse to spare her nerve strain and worry. A few weeks ago, with the completion of her role in "Juarez," Bette decided to go to the desert and the studio executives sighed with relief. At last she would have a chance to regain that lost poundage. And now I'm wondering how the Warner Brothers will react when they hear the disconcerting news from Palm Springs. Bette has been going for long horseback rides at 5

With Joan Crawford in her first dancing role in five years, "The Shining Hour," romantic drama, which opens a three-day run at Walker's theater tomorrow, also presents such screen head-liners as Melvyn Douglas, Margaret Sullivan, Robert Young and Fay Bainter.

The second production for the program will be "Thanks for the Memory," starring Bob Hope and Shirley Ross as newlyweds in their hilarious struggles to get ahead in the world despite the mad ministrations of their fun-loving friends. "You're an Education," color cartoon, and world news events also screen.

"The Shining Hour" relates the adventures of a night club dancer who marries a middle-western gentleman farmer and is hurried into a tragic situation when she is taken to his home to live. A married brother-in-law promptly falls in love with her and an elder sister of the brothers despises her and makes no secret of it. The plot and acting leave nothing to be asked for in the way of screen entertainment.

With Charles Butterworth, Otto Kruger, Hedda Hopper and Roscoe Karns assisting Hope and Miss Ross, the plot of "Thanks for the Memory" dips into comedy from the start. The problem of a young friends all at the same time creates man, write a novel, keep house and entertain a dozen rowdy friends all at the same time creates a delightful hour of laughs. Lovers' petty jealousies also add amusement to the plot.

Two Mysteries To Be at State Soon

"The Game That Kills," story of hockey, and "The Night Hawk," form a double-bill mystery program at the State Wednesday and Thursday, according to Manager Darryl Johnson.

Featuring Charles Quigley, Rita Hayworth, J. Farrell MacDonald and other well known screen personalities, "The Game That Kills" tells of the events which follow the slaying of a star left wing on a hockey team and the efforts to uncover "game fixing" as well as the murderer. Both sport fans and those who like mystery thrills should enjoy the film. Gangsters smuggling an iron lung into the country—newspaper reporters, hungry for a good story, hiding themselves in the great iron tube and traveling with it into a gangster's lair—murder on the high sea—contraband liquor—a pretty girl and a romantic young man, these are the ingredients of "The Night Hawk." Robert Armstrong as the gangster and Robert Livingston as the reporter are featured, ably assisted by June Travis. An "Our Gang" comedy, "Men in Fringe," also shows.

a. m. every morning. To date, she has lost exactly four pounds.

One of the oddest friendships in Hollywood is that between John Barrymore and Katharine Hepburn—odd because of the fireworks touched off at its inception. Barrymore, the star of "Bill of Divorcement," went to the train to meet Hepburn, imported from New York to be his leading lady. "You would wear a green dress!" said he with Barrymore acidity. "You're colorblind," snapped Hepburn, thereby establishing herself as the first lady on record to be undaunted by the Barrymore frown. "If that dress isn't green," retorted John, "I'm a so-and-so." "Consider that point settled," said Katie, "You're a so-and-so—the dress is blue!" Barrymore spent the next two weeks singing her praises.

The picture is being popularly received now at the Broadway.

Claude Rains, left above, with Olivia de Havilland and George Brent, have featured roles in "Gold Is Where You Find It," outdoor drama dealing with the war between hydraulic miners of California and ranchers in the 1870's, opens at the State tomorrow. GABLE-SHEARER TEAM PRAISED Sharing the limelight in the current theater gossip about town concerning Clark Gable and Norma Shearer in the highly praised "Idiot's Delight" are the six glamorous girls.

People want to know where Gable got a corner on the six lovely blondes who are shown with him in his humorous song and dance number in "Idiot's Delight," now showing at the West Coast.

According to Manager Eddie Suggen of the West Coast, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spent several months searching for the "perfect half-dozen," who hail from all parts of the United States. Virginia Grey was born in Hollywood; Paula Stone, daughter of Fred Stone, stage and screen star, in New York City; Bernadine Hayes, selected the "Most Beautiful Radio Artist," in St. Louis; Virginia Dale, in Charlotte, N. C., and Lorraine Krueger, in St. Louis. Joan Marsh is the only small town girl to win a "glamour girl" role. She was born in Porterville.

"Idiot's Delight" is said to be by far the best work the Gable-Shearer combination has ever turned in. Clark as song and dance man, and Norma as a vaudeville acrobat meet in Omaha, fall in love... their paths separate... be crossed again in Europe, where at the point the picture builds up to a stirring climax. Edward Arnold, Burgess Meredith and Joseph Schildkraut all have convincing parts.

The second feature, "While New York Sleeps," is a thrilling newspaper-detective story. Michael Whalen, Jean Rogers, Chick

"ZAZA" GIVES COLBERT ROLE AS MUSIC HALL DARLING SOON

With a swish of her frou-frou skirts and a twinkle in her mischievous eyes, "Zaza," the darling of the French music halls, will become the darling of local film fans when they witness the first showing of this Paramount picture scheduled for initial screening at the Broadway Wednesday.

Claudette Colbert, in the title role, displays the daring charm, sparkling wit and heart-felt pathos which have made "Zaza" one of the best-loved characters ever to appear in the theater.

The story of "Zaza" takes place in France in the early part of the present century. Herbert Marshall will be seen as the complex "Dufresne," a pillar of society who rocks when the alluring actress turns her full charms on him. From a sober man, interested only in his family, he turns into the heedless and intoxicated lover of a woman whose name could not even be mentioned in his own circles. Supporting the two leads are Bert Lehr, Helen Westley, Genevieve Tobin and Walter Catlett.

How a young cattleman is railroaded to prison, serves a sentence, and then returns for vengeance on his enemies, leads to the suspenseful events in "Lawless Valley," the second feature on the program. George O'Brien plays the important lead in this stirring western of Arizona outdoor life. Also in the cast are George Kohler sr., and also George Kohler jr., and Kay Sutton, the 44th leading lady that O'Brien has had.

'DAWN PATROL' SCREENS SOON

"The Dawn Patrol," full-bodied action drama starring Errol Flynn, double bills Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Walker's with an uproarious, screwball comedy, "Up the River," "Honduras Hurricane," cartoon and world news events also screen.

"The Dawn Patrol," which includes in its cast, Basil Rathbone, David Niven, Donald Crisp and Melville Cooper, is the story of British wartime aviation, a moving compound of the pitiful, heedless gallantry of youth and the calmer courage of maturity in 1915, when the average life of combat pilots was only four and one-half hours.

"Up the River" is one of the funniest combinations of music, broad comic situations and razzle-dazzle "Big Ben Conference" foot-

Box Office 'Best Bets' Screen Soon

Wallace Beery and Robert Taylor, two of the biggest box-office assets in pictures today, are cast together in "Stand Up and Fight," scheduled for initial screening at the West Coast next Wednesday.

The story deals with the early days of western Maryland, when the stage-coach lines and railroads were engaged in a bitter battle for supremacy as the population of the United States surged westward. Beery is seen as "Boss" Starkey, manager of the stage-coach line. Beery and Taylor engage in a fist fight, one of those free-for-all, anything-goes, bare-knuckle kind, which is rated as one of the wildest and most realistic battles ever to take place before the cameras. Maurice Costello, the Robert Taylor of the screen 30 years ago, Florence Rice, Helen Broderick, Charles Bickford, Charley Grapewin and Barton MacLane complete the cast.

The companion feature stars Sally Eilers in "Tarnished Angel," a story dealing with a stormy romance between a society man and a girl from the underworld.

Jack Benny's Stogie Is To Be Seen In Film Role Soon

Eddie Anderson, who is Jack Benny's famous negro stogie, "Rochester," on the radio, plays the role of Washington, Robert Young's valet in "Honolulu" coming soon to the West Coast theater. When Director Eddie Buzzell called him for his first scene Buzzell addressed him as Washington. "Couldn't you make that name Syracuse or Elmira, Mr. Buzzell?" queried Anderson, "They're a little closer to Rochester."

Eleanor Powell and Robert Young are co-starred in this romantic picture of the islands, with George Burns and Gracie Allen doing their bit for the comedy sequences.

bal seen in the past year. The story focuses on a group of happy inmates in a mythical state prison which boasts a radio in every cell and gates that are practically revolving doors. The outstanding cast of this screwball-and-chain gang comedy includes Preston Foster, Arthur Treacher, Tony Martin, Phyllis Brooks, Slim Summerville and Sidney Toler.

First Film About Women Fliers Will Screen Soon

Featuring some of the most spectacular flying ever seen on the screen and telling for the first time the story of women of the sky, "Tail Spin" comes to the West Coast theater in the near future. It is reported to be a smashing romantic adventure.

Alice Faye, Constance Bennett and Nancy Kelly are starred in the film as three women fliers, telling the thrills that came with their split-second escapes and the heart-throbs behind their spectacular lives. Miss Faye flies for thrills and money, Constance Bennett, to hide from love and Nancy Kelly to be near her husband, to whom flying means so much. "Tail Spin" features a fine supporting cast headed by Joan Davis, Charles Farrell, Jane Wyman and Wally Vernon.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1939

Plans Progressing For A. A. U. W. Benefit Party

Plans well under way for the annual student loan fund benefit party which Orange county branch A.A.U.W. will present just two weeks from today, are meeting with the usual interest throughout the county. For as it has been pointed out, these spring parties are not only outstanding events on the social calendar, but the educational cause is one very close to the hearts of everyone in the county.

This year's event on Saturday afternoon, February 18, will take place as usual, in the peacock room of Santa Ana Ebell clubhouse. It will begin promptly at 1 o'clock with the serving of a dessert course, followed by a revue of the frocks and furbelows designed by Dame Fashion to meet with feminine fancy in the spring and early summer.

Program Plans
A games contest for the remainder of the afternoon will permit guests to choose between contract bridge, auction bridge and Chinese checkers.

Miss Ruth Rowland is general chairman for party plans, and named her committee groups several weeks ago in order to have everything in readiness for the day's varied program. Ticket sales have been lively, and each member of the committee in charge has been disposing of innumerable magic cardboard that will admit the many guests expected.

Those who have not yet secured tickets, may do so, according to Miss Rowland, by telephoning any member of this committee. Included are Miss Ruth Frothingham, chairman, 2083; Mrs. Lynn Scott, 2832J; Miss Anna Trythal, 2152J; Miss Josephine Good, 4807W; Miss Mable McPadden, 610J; Miss Ruth Stephenson, 727J; Miss Mary Beasley, 1258R.

Among committee chairmen is Mrs. Hiram M. Currey, who is receiving reservations. Mrs. Grace Knipe will be aided in securing the necessary tables by Mrs. De Witt Dudley, Mrs. Clyde Cook and the Misses Beryl Hatch and Hope Davis. Mrs. Horace Scott will have the task of setting these tables, with the assistance of Mesdames R. W. Tibbets, Jack Snow and Ray Adkinson. Decorations of the peacock room and of tables will be in charge of Mrs. Louis Vorhis assisted by the Misses Lillian Dickson, Helen Estock and Vanche Plumb.

Many Prizes
table will receive a prize from table will receive a prize from the collection selected by the Misses Katherine Bud and Marjorie McCulloch. In addition will be door prizes and Mesdames Edith Thatcher and Charles Briscoe will arrange for these. Refreshments are being planned under direction of Mrs. Wendell Finley, who with her committee, Miss Lula B. Finley, Mrs. Reuel Klein and Mrs. A. E. Knight, will have charge of serving.

Other committee chairmen busily engaged in plans include Mrs. Robert Horn, publicity; Miss Ethel Walker, games; Miss Genevieve Humeston, program, and Miss Dorothy Decker, score pads and tallies.

Reservations Are Due For Tux and Gown Party

As plans progressed today for Tux and Gown club's annual dinner dance Saturday night, February 11 in Long Beach, members were reminded that reservations should be made by Tuesday noon with Leland Finley, P. O. Box 28, Pacific Coast club will be setting for the gala event, which is expected to draw a large group of members. Dinner will be served promptly at 7:45 p. m. in the Sunset room. Election of board of directors will be held.

Announcements sent out to members reveal that the party will be on a valentine theme. Music for dancing will be provided by the Coast club orchestra, which is said to be one of the best in the Southland.

Golden State Officers Are Entertained

Introducing a party series which she plans to continue during her year as president of Golden State camp R. N. A., Mrs. Robert Brown was hostess Thursday evening to the officers so recently installed with her.

They were received in the Brown home, 921 West First street, where valentine colors added a note of cheerful gaiety. Appointed of small linen-spread tables arranged for serving a dessert course, were especially pleasing and small scarlet hearts dotted the mounds of whipped cream on gingerbread served with coffee.

Plans for the camp's social program and for money-raising affairs were discussed. One of the latter was started when members fashioned calendar plates on which each month's outstanding birthday or patriotic date, is to be covered with a dime, all proceeds to go to the treasury. These plates will be distributed among Golden State members for them to complete during the year.

Mrs. Brown will continue her parties by entertaining another group of Golden State members at an early date.

Hostess Quartet Gives Layette Shower

Mrs. R. B. Bird's home, 2529 Valencia street, was lovely with white stocks and sweet peas yesterday afternoon as setting for a layette shower honoring Mrs. Robert Wimbush. Hostesses were Mrs. Wimbush's mother, Mrs. R. N. Wimbush, Mrs. Hans Wagner, Mrs. J. H. Virnig and Mrs. Bird.

Tables were set up for an enjoyable session of games. Winning prizes were Mrs. George Shippe, Mrs. Hubert Nall and Mrs. R. A. Bird, who scored first, second high and low in bridge; and Mrs. Clare Davis of South Gate, who won in bingo.

White stocks and fern added to the attractive scene in the dining room, where tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. R. N. Wimbush and Mrs. Wagner. Cakes designed with rosebuds were served with ice cream of stork motif. Mrs. Virnig had arranged the small tables, which were centered with sweetpeas in bottle or bannet containers.

Shower gifts for the honoree were in a little wagon adorned with pink crepe paper and toy cut-outs. This was brought in by two-year-old Bob Dorricott of Los Angeles while his mother, Mrs. Edwin Dorricott, a sister of Mrs. Bird, sang an appropriate lullaby. Twenty-eight guests shared the hospitality.

Beauceant Plans Party For February 15

Social Order of Beauceant has plans under way for a benefit card party to be held Wednesday afternoon, February 15 at 1:30 o'clock in Masonic temple, it was announced today following this week's meeting of the group in the temple.

Auction and contract bridge will be in play following the serving of dessert. In addition to prizes in the card contests, there will be special awards. The public is invited to share the hospitality.

Mrs. Hugh Wiley conducted the meeting. Visitors were Mrs. J. Joseph Smith, past supreme worthy president; Mrs. Frank Whitman, Mrs. C. B. Schmuck, Mrs. James Hilton and Mrs. John McDonald, all of Pasadena.

At the close of the meeting, the group was invited to the dining room for refreshments including a pretty birthday cake honoring Mrs. C. Neuschwanger.

Wait a Minute

Perhaps that chorus of laments aroused by the smudging will die down now that the rain has washed the air . . . But financial results of the smudging were not so easily washed away . . . Did you ever stop to think of the loss that the growers must take on the chin? No we didn't know either, but we learn that one night's smudging costs an average of $15 an acre. Rather cuts into the profits, doesn't it? Especially if a cold snap continues for several nights . . . It is one of those things we wish need not be, but since it does happen occasionally, think of the drama involved! . . . Dozens of cars lining the roadway adjacent to a grove, while the drivers dash into action, firing the smudge pots, seeing that oil is replenished at intervals, judging the extent of the need . . . Scarlet flames leaping high in the air to glow on low-hanging plumes of smoke . . . Green foliage and vivid fruits standing out in relief in the darkness . . . An air of suspense so strong as to seem tangible . . . Did you realize that the smudging Wednesday night, was not so much to protect the current crop in which the sugar content is sufficiently established now, that it offers its own anti-freeze mixture—as to save the tiny new growth from which next year's crop will come?

With a rainy week-end probable, there should be plenty of apple-crunching and book-browsing as stay-at-homers take advantage of the situation . . . Didja know that Mary Bowyer (Mrs. Harvey) Doesken who as a librarian, spends a lotta time with books, is raising horses as a side line? At present she has a happy family of sleek looking equines spending most of their time near Eddie Martin's airport . . . Harriet (One of Our Favorite Reviewers) Enderle finished a review for Junior Business Gals 't'other night and then dashed off for a rendezvous with three guesses—none other than Spouse Maurice (Chief Dep. Co. Assessor) Enderle. Lucky man!

. . . Apropos of the cold snap, Don (Super Service Station) Jerome said "Let's give California back to the Eskimos"—but we doubt his sincerity, for as Lions club prexy, he would toss it to the Lions . . . "My wife thinks I am educated—I can write my name any place on our new white woodwork," declared Harold (Walker Theater) Simpson . . . One way to gain reputation as a speaker on California history is to select the right husband as Cora (Mrs. T. E.) Stephenson discovered recently when Spouse Terry (Co. Treasurer) filled two or three speaking engagements for her over the county while she was at home recuperating from the flu . . . Ruth and Jack (Service Your Cars) Henle have an interesting home—its big living room has a special dignity and charm, but of course the most decorative feature is small Dotter Joan . . . Alice and Minor (Hockaday and Phillips) Cox soon will be in their own newly purchased home up on Owens Drive . . . The house we'd like to have is that white-shingled bungalow in which Marian and J. Russell (J. C. Pedagogue) Bruff have lived for several years.

If Ebell Antique section members are interested, we have some priceless antiques—our telephone books. Give us the good old days when 'Phone books were issued at frequent intervals . . . What's this we hear about Ed (Laguna Rotarian) Hinds getting himself engaged? . . . And about H. McVickar (Doc) Smith, now of San Francisco, getting himself married? . . . Sorry to learn that Salena (Mrs. J. B.) Tucker was among the many ptomaine sufferers after that unfortunate Orange affair of recent date. Although she is now improving, it will be some time before she and Doris (Mrs. Herbert) Miller put their party plans into effect . . . Master Dickie Taylor, son of Charlotte and John Lacy (Or. Co. Title Co.) Taylor is having the time of his life now that his great-uncle and aunt, the U. A. Fraziers, have arrived from Wisconsin, and are taking the small lad on Southland jaunts. Here and There . . . Hold up your hands when Sam (Co. L. Guardsman) Teel comes near—now that he has gained such distinction as a marksman . . . Ruth (Harlingen, Tex.) Thompson, here for the winter with her Grand, Martha (Mrs. J. J.) Thompson, has just enrolled for a new jaysce course, as has Mabel (Student) Linville . . . Also up on the campus, Joyce (Spinster Prexy) Wentworth and all her cohorts are busily spinning the fabric of party plans in readiness for their bang-up "swaree"—styles, cards, ter and all . . . Clara (Mrs. H. B.) Van Dien is able to breathe free, since completing a term of jury service—all the same admitting that it was an interesting experience . . . Add to look-alikes: Billie (Stein's Stationery-Mrs. Kenneth) Adams and Claudette (Flickers) Star) Colbert now that Billie wears her dark tresses in a curly fringe across her forehead.

"And Pretty Girls All In a Row"

Mrs. Lionel Machado as Miss Isabel Vieira, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcelino Vieira, Fairview road, was a bride on January 25 at rites in St. Anne's Catholic church. She and Mr. Machado will live in Santa Ana upon return from a San Francisco honeymoon . . . Miss Bernadine Helberg, daughter of the A. G. Helbergs, 519 East Fourth street, has been complimented at several gay affairs since recent road wedding . . . Mrs. Harvey Morris Shephard was a New Years Day bride, the former Miss Thelma Lurie Hicks, whose wedding in Yuma, was recently announced by her mother, Mrs. Placido Jacques, 507 Normandy Place. Mr. and Mrs. Shephard will live in Los Angeles, where the former is a department manager in a market . . . Mrs. Sherman E. Nugent is another Yuma bride, and was Miss Eva Deane Caskey of Santa Ana, registrar at the San Juan Capistrano High school. Wedded in the Arizona Gretna Green on January 14, the young couple are living in the Mission Village and Mr. Nugent is continuing his duties with Towner Manufacturing company . . . Mrs. Jack E. Brady was Miss Ruth Ida Grindley of Cypress, and was wedded on January 27 at evening services held in Glendale's Wee Kirk O' the Heather. She and Mr. Brady returned from their honeymoon to make their home in Burbank where the latter is with the Lockheed Airplane company.

Native Daughters Spend Day in Needlework

Native Daughters Thimble club prepared for a spring bazaar, added another pleasant event this week when Miss Gladys Edwards welcomed some 30 members to her hospitable ranch home in Placentia.

The morning's work program specialized on aprons, and an electric sewing machine brought into the den, whirled cheerfully all morning. Some of the Daughters devoted their time to embroidering linen guest towels. The bazaar will be a feature of the big, Spanish dinner which the parlor will stage in the spring.

Covered dish luncheon at noon was an enjoyable interlude in the day's work. Bridge enthusiasts in the group accepted Miss Edwards' invitation to remain for an evening of contract. She served a delicious dinner to the accompaniment of a handsome dinner service and lace cloth. Pottery salad bowls went as rewards for high scoring to Mrs. William A. West and Mrs. Ennice Fox.

Mrs. Carl Schroeder, 2131 Lincoln street, will be hostess to the Thimble club next Thursday, with covered dish luncheon at noon.

Birthday Celebration Marks Circle Luncheon

Birthday pleasures Thursday for Mrs. Martha Vandewalker reached an interesting climax with a noon-day affair for which members of Torosa Sewing circle assembled in her home, 422 South Birch street.

Although this was a regular meeting of the group, there were many special features to make the event outstanding. Early in the morning, Mrs. Vandewalker had received a lovely bouquet of flowers as a birthday gift of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Garvin. Then as circle members arrived, they showered the hostess with hankerchiefs, aprons, other gifts and greeting cards.

Mrs. Clara Hillyard and Mrs. Helen Hillyard joined Mrs. Vandewalker in entertaining. They served covered-dish luncheon at noon, when places were marked for 25 guests.

Birthday Event Recalls One of Year Earlier

Special anniversary features of a dinner party last night in the William J. Hemmen home, 624 South Parton street, were by no means confined to the birthday date of the hostess, which was so pleasantly commemorated by the little group of guests entertained.

For all of them were able to recall the occasion just a year ago, when a similar birthday dinner had the unfortunate sequel of a broken leg for Mrs. Hemmen. At that time she and her husband and their son, Harry Hemmen, welcomed a group of close friends, Messrs. and Mesdames A. R. Bennett, E. U. Farmer, Earl Frevert and Harry Harlow, for what was planned as a happy evening. Unfortunately, it ended abruptly, when the hostess slipped on rain-wet steps at the back door, breaking her leg.

All this was recalled last night when Mr. and Mrs. Hemmen welcomed the same little group, this time with no unfortunate ending to a happy evening. Dinner was served at a table gay with yellow flowers and tapers, and pretty valentine place cards. Chinese checkers and forty-two were played after dinner, and before the party came to an end, the guests expressed birthday congratulations to their hostess by the gift of a set of crystal sherbet glasses.

Bridge Club Members Enjoy Meeting New Baby

Bridge club members who met this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dyke, 915 South Ross street were happy to greet the new daughter of the home, little Miss Linda Jon Van Dyke, who is just five weeks old.

This was Mrs. Van Dyke's first meeting with the group since the baby's arrival. Bridge play of the evening brought first prize to Mrs. Robert U. Smith.

The hostess used a bouquet of sweet peas as decorations on the candle-lit table in the dining room. Smaller tables were centered with old-fashioned nosegays of sweet peas and camellias during the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Wayne Bartholomew will entertain the group in two weeks' time.

Jaysce Honor Society Sponsors Community Play

One of the major interests just at present of Alpha Gamma Sigma, junior college honor society, is the sale of tickets to the Santa Ana Community Players' production of "You Can't Take It With You," to be staged the night of February 18 in the high school auditorium.

Alpha Gamma Sigma is acting as sponsor for the production, and will use the proceeds for the society's award presented annually to graduating sophomores with high scholastic achievements. Herschel Albrecht, president of the society, Dean Millinger, Isamu Masuda, Ernest Barrett and the Misses Jo Butler, Eileen Gibbs, Clare Westerman and Mr. Lee Brown have been appointed as committee chairmen in furthering ticket sales. Each is working with eight committee members, and the groups held a dinner meeting this week in the women's lounge on the campus, to outline their plan of work.

An award will be made the winning team, and those who contribute unusual service will go as club guests to the Alpha Gamma Sigma national convention to be held in San Francisco during the first week of April.

Members of the W.T.N.M. club were joined by their husbands for the pleasant party, planned by Mrs. Arthur Rimel. The group presented Mr. and Mrs. Crasher with a gift of a guest log, the first pages of which now bear the names of the guests at this week's party.

Former Jaycee Student Weds Today in Simi

To the many junior college friends of Miss Dorothy Hess, popular member of Las Gitanas on the local campus, the information that Miss Hess would discontinue her studies in favor of marriage, came as a complete surprise. But her wedding to Wallace Chamberlain of Simi, was to be an event taking place today in the Simi Community church.

Miss Hess is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynford Hess of Simi, but has been in Santa Ana during the college year, and has made her home with her grandparents, the C. E. Utts of Lemon Heights. Today's wedding was climax of a Simi high school romance. Mr. Chamberlain is connected with an oil company in Simi, where the young couple will make their home.

Junior Ebell Fashion Revue Set For Saturday, March 11

Mrs. Francis Norton, chairman of tickets, will have a large corps of assistants. It was pointed out that there will be two price ranges, the highest for seats at the 80 tables which will be placed in the peacock room, and a smaller sum for 25 tables which will be set up in the foyer. In this manner, the club members expect to provide a more satisfactory arrangement of tables so that all the guests may have an opportunity to view the fashion show from an advantageous point. Fashions will be presented through the courtesy of Scoullers.

Recent Brides Figure In Post-Nuptial Shower

Mrs. George Lang (Margaret Crowell) was inspiration for a post-nuptial shower last night when another recent bride, Mrs. Harry Basse (La Vene Parks) entertained in her honor. The hostess' home, 1016 West Almond avenue in Orange was scene of the affair.

Assisting Mrs. Basse throughout the evening was her mother, Mrs. Gay Parks. They had arranged decorations of white chrysanthemums and roses, with slender taper rising from some of the bouquets.

Hearts had been chosen as the game of the evening, played with the result that Mrs. Lang and Mrs. Harding Edkins won prizes for their high and low scores. Red and white sweetpeas and scarlet tapers centered small tables at which dessert was served late in the evening. Valentines served as favors.

Sunday School Class
Enjoys All-Day Meeting

A fire glowing cheerfully on the living room hearth at the George McKinney home, 119 West Nineteenth street, offered bridge contrast to yesterday's rainy skies when more than twenty members of the Lucy Madden Sunday school class of Spurgeon Memorial church, shared an all-day meeting with Mrs. McKinney, their class president.

Many colorful flowers placed about the home added to the friendly atmosphere as the group chatted and sewed throughout the afternoon. The mid-day luncheon was one of innumerable appetizing dishes to which each one present contributed.

It was pointed out that the class teacher, Mrs. Henry Donan, has held that post for the past 22 years, and that Mrs. A. A. Jones had been assistant teacher for many years. Mrs. McKinney is entertaining her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sallie Lackey of Williamson, West Va., who greatly enjoyed the day's sociability with the class.

With the tempting refreshments served at a late hour, she included a pretty birthday cake frosted in white and ornamented with red hearts. Red sweet peas decorated tables at which guests were seated.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANN MEREDITH

When you must make a small quantity of fish serve more than you planned for, try this way. Not only is the finished dish decorative, but the flavor is something your family or guests will long remember.

Stuffed Halibut Rolls with Cheese Sauce

For 4 portions, use 2 thick fillets of halibut or other white fish, 1 cups of soft grated bread mixed with 3 tablespoons minced parsley 3 tablespoons melted butter 1 table spoon sweet pickle relish, drained.

1 beaten egg to bind dressing Salt and pepper.

Ask the fish man to slice fillets the long way, making four thin slices. Blend dressing until soft and spreadable. "Butter" each fillet with dressing, roll up and pin card with wood picks. Arrange fillets in a glass baking dish, dredge with lemon butter and bake 20 minutes in a medium oven.

While the fish is baking prepare the cheese sauce. Blend together over a low fire: 2 tablespoons butter 1 tablespoon cornstarch 1 teaspoon prepared mustard A pinch of cayenne, salt and pepper.

Bring to a salad: 1 1/2 cups top milk, add a tiny speck of soda, and then the blended thickening. When smooth and thick, stir in 1 cup grated yellow cheese.

Spread a little cheese sauce over each halibut roll, slip dish under the broiler flame just long enough to sizzle the sauce. Serve extra sauce in a bowl.

6 eggs, whites beaten stiff
1 cup rich milk
1 teaspoon salt
Butter for frying cakes

—My Tested Recipe.
Beat egg yolk until thick and lemon-colored, add salt and milk, and moist crumbled matzos. Whip the stiffly beaten egg whites through the mixture and fry in small spoonfuls on a hot buttered griddle.

Served with bacon the matzos pancakes serve as a toast and egg dish. When you haven't bacon, jam or honey will do very nicely.

Sweet Potato Waffles
2 cups hot mashed sweet potato
4 tablespoons butter added to hot potato
2 tablespoons sugar, beaten with 1 egg.
1 cup milk combined with egg 2 teaspoons baking powder sifted with 2-3 cup flour.
Add 1 teaspoon salt and a pinch of nutmeg.

Combine mashed potato, butter, egg with sugar and milk. Whip into a smooth paste, add salt and nutmeg and test for texture. If the batter plops easily from spoon tip, it is ready for the waffle iron. If too heavy, dilute with a tiny bit of milk.

If you wish to use these waffles for supper, you will be sure to like this unique waffle spread: Cream 1/2 cup soft butter with 1 1/2 cups sifted powdered sugar. Add the stiffly beaten white of one egg, mix well, and add two tablespoons, each

"These school children are too fresh. They ought to be made to shut their mouths and attend to their own business. The idea of them sending a petition to the board, asking that their teacher be removed. The cheek! That couldn't happen in any other country in the world."

That something couldn't happen in this country that couldn't happen in any other brought no grief to my heart. What I wanted to know from the irate gentleman was what caused the school children to petition the board.

The children were seniors in a high school in a good-sized town in a state that prides itself on its schools. The trouble seemed to be this: A teacher, retired for age on a pension, in another state was appointed to teach in this small select high school, in a state community. The class as a whole were not doing so well in her subject. She was said to talk more about her family and their American ancestry than about the subject she had to teach. The class has to pass a state examination in her subject in order to be graduated and enter college. Their chances are slim, every body admits. Yet, when they appealed to the last authority available to them, they were called "fresh."

"But are the children right?" I asked.

"Suppose they were. Are you going to let young snips like them petition for a new teacher? It is not for them to criticize the school they are given. If you allow them to do that where are you?"

In a far better position than I I don't allow them to speak. A school is supported by the community to serve the children. That is its one and only function. If it does not serve the children it has no right to exist. If a teacher cannot teach it is the duty of the supervisors to know it, help her and the children, but especially to help the children.

I would expect to get help in school affairs from the seniors. I would expect them to take themselves and their work and their relation to the community seriously. And in return I would expect to take them and their statements seriously. I would expect to study any question they brought me, any complaint they made, very carefully, fully as carefully as any that a body of citizens brought me, for the pupils in the school would be far more likely to know what was going on there, and how it affected them, than any outsider would.

In the beginning grades of the elementary schools we teach children to accept the authority of the leader without question. When we do we undertake full responsibility for the rightness of that leader. When school students reach the age of seniors it is certain that they have some maturity of intelligence, and if that is so, their voice should be heard, their suggestions taken in the spirit in which they are offered, and their cooperation enlisted. Else why college, high school, any school?

The real end of education is to send out a generation of individuals who reason, judge and act with intelligence upon their own initiative.

Mr. Patri has prepared a new booklet (No. 303) entitled, "Eating," in which he explains the art of serving food to children and offers solutions to the problems involved. Send for it, enclosing 10 cents. Address your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, The Bell Library, in care of this newspaper, post office box 75, station O, New York, N. Y.

Griffith Holds Meeting

CHICAGO — (UP)—Pittsburgh will be strictly an unofficial member of the Big Ten, receiving all the benefits of an experienced organization and none of the legislative grief, Maj. John L. Griffith revealed today.

The situation—Pitt's unprecedented agreement to submit its athletic problems to the Big Ten and its commissioner—produced a dozen wild rumors but Griffith had an answer for all:

1. The Big Ten will remain intact, since not even Pitt has suggested a change and the University of Chicago, an athletic weak sister, intends to hold its membership.

2. The conference eligibility committee will pass on Pitt's problems just as it does its own. The committee's findings will, however, merely be advice. Pittsburgh officials are free to accept it or refuse.

3. Pittsburgh representative will serve on a Big Ten committee.

4. The commissioner's office will act not as a policeman but as a clearing house for all information regarding eligibility, proselyting and subsidization.

MORE AND MORE ALIKE

With every passing day, National Socialist Germany and Socialist Russia look more and more alike.

In Hitler's letter to Walther Funk in which the latter displaced Dr. Schacht, Hitler directed Funk specifically to transform the Reichbank "into a German bank of issue unconditionally subjected to the sovereignty of the state, in conformity with National Socialist principles."

And so it is in Russia.

Next Hitler dissolved the Reich League of officers, breaking up the officer caste which was the backbone of the imperial army, and making the officer corps simply an arm of the Nazi party.

And so it is in Russia. There, too, the army is merely a tool of the single legal party, the Communist.

The spur is being applied to the German worker in the frantic effort to keep up the arms pace and still manufacture goods for export in exchange for imports which mean life itself to the people. No strike or other interruption of national production is tolerated.

And so it is in Russia.

The many similarities apparent from the start between the two countries, each ruled by a single party which ruthlessly crushes all opposition, increase with every new move of the German government. The "socialist" side of the Hitler regime, always part of the "patter" with which it was sold to Germany, comes to the surface more clearly each day, as bare necessity forces Hitler to take over profits and assume an iron control over what remains of private capital.

True, each speaks a different ideological language; each swears undying hatred for the other. But what is important is deeds, not words, and Everet Dean Martin is not the first to see the possibility of a future alliance between Germany and Russia which could completely alter the world as any living man has known it.

MYSTERY OF LIFE

"To God. In Heaven. Up in the Sky."

That was the only address on the envelope. The childish scrawl of the writing helped the Minneapolis postoffice clerks to trace the letter back to 6-year-old Bobby Lewis.

The letter inside the scrawled envelope was simple. It read:

"Dear God:
"When I go upstairs, please let me see Floydie. "BOBBY."

Floyd, you see, had been one of Bobby's pals. He was only 4, while Bobby was 6. So when Floyd underwent an operation, Bobby was concerned with all the big-brotherly instincts of a 6-year-old for a little boy who was his friend.

Floyd died, but Bobby couldn't understand, quite. All his 6-year-old mind could grasp was that Floyd had gone, somewhere far away. "Upstairs?" "In Heaven?" "Up in the sky?" So the child-mind expressed it.

Bobby will grow older, as 6-year-old boys do. He will go through a period of cynical young manhood, and hard-boiled middle-age. He will see many more of his friends die.

Philosophy will come to his aid, as will religion. He will read and ponder many high-flown theories of life here and the hereafter.

When he is old, weary with years and batterings and philosophy, someone else dear to him will die. And Bobby, be he ever so venerable, will find himself sloughing aside all the fancy trapping of his philosophies and murmuring "To God. In Heaven. Up in the sky."

It is the great irony of life that Bobby may live to 60 or 100, and never get closer to the inscrutable mystery of life and death than he was as a little boy of 6.

A WISE WAGE SYSTEM

For the next character building contest, I will give $100, divided in ten prizes to two groups for the best article of 500 words on "What is a wise method of arriving at a wise or fair wage," or "By what method should the amount of wages each worker should receive be arrived at?" so that the people as a whole, over a long period of time will reap the greatest reward both materially and spiritually.

There was some very splendid essays presented on the question of a reasonable profit. The judges are working on these and the reports will be announced and checks mailed to the winners in a few days.

The prizes for the next contest will be awarded as follows: There will be two distinct competitive groups—those 25 years of age or under and those 26 years of age, or over. This, in reality, gives the younger group a much better chance of winning the prizes than the older group for the reason that there are many less people 25 years of age or less, and yet old enough to understand the principles, than there are 26 years of age or over. But inasmuch as I am intensely interested in having younger people interested, I have decided on the division as above stated. In the last contest some of the presentations for the younger group were not very good.

The prizes will be awarded on the same basis as the last contest, namely, $20 for the first prize in each group; $10 for the second; $8 for the third; $7 for the fourth and $5 for the fifth. The contest will close on Friday, February 24. All answers should be in the office of the newspaper running this column before that date.

Do not forget to state when submitting an article in which group you are entering.

GERMANY'S DENSITY OF POPULATION AND WAR

In Hitler's speech, he pointed out some very important things that should be carefully considered by every man and woman who loves peace.

He explained that there were 135 people for every square kilometer of territory in Germany. This practically agrees with other authorities that Germany has only 1.12 arable acres for each person. It is generally agreed that under the present state of agriculture, it takes at least 3 acres per person to support an individual in a healthy condition. Therefore, it is unreasonable to expect capable, intelligent people, like the Germans, to peacefully consent to starvation if the other nations prevent her from getting raw materials by tariff walls or restricted quotas. If Germany is to support her population in health, she must be permitted to import raw materials and fabricate, or change, them into things of more value and trade them back for other comforts of life that she requires, in order to support her population in health and reasonable comfort.

So the greatest thing that could happen to the world to bring about progress and peace and good-will would be a rapid reduction in tariff restrictions, which interfere with nations that do not have sufficient natural resources, from getting these natural resources and trading back the finished product for other things they need.

ALARMING BANKING SITUATION

Everett Dean Martin, of Claremont College, in an address made at Los Angeles on the subject of "Liberty in our Own Country—its state of mind and its possibilities," made the statement that the banks, 10 years ago, had 90 per cent of the loans in job-producing loans and 10 per cent in non-job producing loans; that now they have 90 per cent in non-productive loans, like loans to the government and financing the purchase of automobiles, etc., and only 10 per cent in loans to industries that produce jobs.

When industry is not willing to borrow money, there is a very definite reason. It is hard to conceive how private employment can increase when enterprisers are afraid to obligate themselves to borrow capital.

Dr. Martin in his speech said that the spiritual plane had been rapidly declining since the Civil War; that unless the spiritual plane of the public were restored, we would continue to have more and more unemployment, until finally the government had nothing with which to take care of the unemployed.

Dr. Martin is a very careful student of liberty, so his predictions are worthy of thoughtful consideration by every spiritual leader.

all the facts from coming out in public, he tried to pledge the senators to a conspiracy of silence which would make it impossible for the people to learn what he was doing or why he was doing it. If the English or the French people thought they were being led into war by furtive treaty making they would overthrow their governments.

Mr. Roosevelt's appetite for supreme power is unlimited. He has surrounded himself with subservient followers who flatter him into a rosy countenance and fill him with the pride of autocracy. He has become so accustomed to ordering the lives of his own people that he is now out-doing even the Wilsonian idea of taking into himself the direction and control of world affairs.

Great Britain and France learned in the years 1914-19 how to work upon such an egotism in the White House and by so doing save their own bacon. Now that they are threatened again they rejoice that another man is wide open to approaches and can be induced to subject his country to any sacrifices necessary for their own purposes. Secret diplomacy is again in full swing in the White House. America is being exploited once more to support the same powers which used it for their salvation and their aggrandizement in the world war.

Mr. Kennedy, the ambassador to Great Britain, and Mr. Bullitt, the ambassador to France, have lost all sense of their duty and are carrying out the worst traditions of our diplomatic service in exerting all their influence to bleed America for the countries to which they are accredited. This creates a danger to Americans which cannot be exaggerated.

It is now plain that if congress had allowed Roosevelt to pack the Supreme court he would do away with congress itself, under his exaggerated pretense that only the President can safely exercise authority in foreign affairs. He would make war as it pleased him.

The senate has learned enough from what Mr. Roosevelt told the members of the military affairs committee to know that if it would keep the United States out of the next war, which may come this spring, it must recover its treaty making powers and insist upon full publicity on every agreement Mr. Roosevelt has made with France and Great Britain.

All They Want Is to Be Left Alone

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Most American writers who have inspected Hitlerism in Germany have agreed, on returning here, that the prize suckers of the plot were the German capitalists, business men and aristocrats who thought Hitler would protect them and treat them with special kindness. The Bolsheviks of this and other countries at first seemed to think so, too. Possibly they honestly did think so, for a bolo might conceivably be honest by mistake, and Hitler developed his system by degrees, borrowing from Bolshevism as he went along.

But after they had boasted Hitler to power the German princes of privilege, to use a term popular with the Bolo-Nazis, Fascists in this country, discovered that he had given them Bolshevism as a protection against Bolshevism. It was homemade Bolshevism but the ingredients were the same, and the only difference, aside from the labels, was a slight variation in some proportions. Some bartenders use a little more vermouth, some a little less.

Yet, because Hitler constantly screamed against Bolshevism and called his racket national socialism, most of us here were slow to detect the sameness. Moreover, our own Bolsheviks denounced as deliberate substitution the dishonest practice every attempt to show that one product was as good, one as bad, as the other.

And, be it said again, Hitler developed slowly. The trick was not new, being familiar in our rackets in which one gang compels a merchant to kick in for protection against another gang which may not even exist, or, if it does exist, may operate exclusively in another neighborhood, "way on the other side of town."

German capitalists are allowed to think they control their property as long as they do not attempt to exercise control or take down profits beyond the amounts fixed by the state as compensation for their work. They may enjoy the sensation of expansion, if they receive orders, or permission, to branch out, but the increase isn't theirs, either. They just manage the property. And only recently, in a story about the final extinction of the officer corps, Mr. Tolischus, of the New York Times, reported that an officer now enjoys no social superiority with his rank. He just has a better job in the army than his subordinates. In Germany the nominal owners or controllers of property live better than the common toilers, but the same is true in Russia of those who perform duties of corresponding importance for the state.

The status of religion is no different in either country in any important respect, for our Bolo-Nazis tell us that one may go to church in Russia if he can find a church and can take the punishment, while in Germany Christ is regarded as an internationalist, and church leaders have been persecuted, tossed into prison and even tossed out of windows, in periods of healthy reaction of the Nazi spirit. Moreover, Hitler hasn't fully developed his anti-church policy, and by the time he is through it probably will be just as hard to find a church in Germany as in Russia.

In both countries people are staked to the land if they are farmers or chained to their appointed jobs, and the concentration or deportation camp and the firing squad are equally familiar in both.

Every institution which the Bolsheviks praise as a virtue of the Bolo system in Russia is duplicated by Hitler's Bolshevism, and it may be observed that if the Russians would adopt anti-Semitism, at which they were very able hands in the Czar's time, or if the Germans would drop it, as they surely would without the constant artificial stimulus, the German Bolsheviks and the Russians could fall into each other's arms, crying "brother!"

It makes our Bolsheviks very angry to be told and to see it proved that the thing which they claim to hate with such nobility, with differences too trifling for serious consideration, the very thing that they profess and try to sell us. It angers the Nazi-Fascists to be told the same thing, for the same reason. It is like hearing a bore denounce another bore and saying to him, "you bore me."

My Pers'nal Opinion Is..

We're jest going at the dang thing backwards; Instead of us trying to get evrybody to go back to work, we're bustin our buttons trying to seduce em all into retiring, under a blanket. It looks like about all our legislators kin think up nowadays, is some way feller restrictin a feller from overworkin hisself too much, 'till it's finally got to where you got to hurry like the dickens to get in a little work between the time you're too young to work — by law, and the time fer you to retire — by law; And if we don't stop it purty soon, it aint going to be long before we'll have more checker-players than there is checkers, and more fishermen than there is fish. Just being 50 or 60, or even 70 aint no good rule to go by, on account of that's jest when a feller is beginning to have enough sense to really be some use in the world; And that's why it's a man's usefulness that should ought to fix the time fer his retirement, and not his age. Wisdom aint jest born in a feller — it's got to be developed through experience, and that's why it's such a screwy idea fer us to make our Supreme Judges feel like a has-been, and they're all washed up when they get to be 70; Why even the Indians and savages knows better'n that, they don't let a feller get to be one of their Wise men 'till he's got age enough so's he kin settle down and do some real ponderin and thinkin. No sir, they make em do all their fishin and checker-playin first, and that way they're able to consider the problems of the fishermen and checker-players later on, on account of they know all the moves.

P. S.—Anyways, you never heard of a Indian going fishin with a battleship.—J.

The Clearing House

Editor Register: Now we hear proposed (in a newspaper interview) the union of the Episcopal and Presbyterian faiths, by a chief moderator of the latter group. All of which is apparently following the great prophecy of the Bible.

Remnants of Christianity were certainly kept alive while the warring faiths came down through history. Free speech, assembly and the rights of men to their separate readings of the Book—and its intent, gained in this struggle of history, seem nearing the crisis so much mentioned for the latter days in the Bible.

This union of religions is not, will not, be Christianity. Such a church must have great power adherence to forms, but also "liberalism". Its tendencies will be determined by the vehicle upon which it rides. Are we to have one big bad church containing a religious test? Dictators and rulers may lead the people to so imagine, but has not the Creator laid down the foundation of the faith and assured the certain end of man's organized enforced Brotherhood of peace and good will to men.

The harlot Babylon may ride upon the beast of evil government and make the world drunk with the wine of her whoredomes but Christ will come, eliminating the false prophet, his organization and armies and the beast—to finally establish His kingdom. Little persistent groups failing to join in this battle against Christ and Christianity can and will, with the help of the Lord—carry on, through Satan's shortening shift, certain of the final victory.

Be sure of your Christianity—it contains your true democracy—now being searched out by many thinkers in this battle of divergent ideas. But put a question mark before all "ideas" which depend upon force or coercion to bring peace and good will to all men seeking them.

DONALD CLARK.

FELLOW CITIZENS:

Resolved: That all money raised under the provisions of the Social Security Act be segregated in the treasury and be expended for the purposes for which raised and for no other purpose.

Taxes are levied upon pay rolls and pay envelopes to provide meagre old age benefit payments and to establish an income producing reserve for a government old age insurance project.

The reserve money goes into the treasury where it is expended along with other money for general governmental purposes. Later congress "appropriates" or authorizes U. S. bonds or securities for the amount of such money, to be placed in the treasury. These bonds or securities are reported as the reserve, and are in fact the only thing approaching a reserve in the treasury.

There is, therefore, a Social Security reserve only if the government can create a reserve out of its own bonds and securities. As a government security is a promise to pay and hence evidence of a government liability, and as a reserve is an asset set aside to liquidate an obligation or liability, the question becomes:

"Can the government turn its liabilities or debts into assets or reserves by storing the evidence of such indebtedness in its own vaults?"

That is the same as asking "Can a man provide for his old age by

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The Judge Manton disclosures are only the prelude to a scandal which is going to shake the New York City federal judiciary and the Democratic Party like an earthquake. It promises to make the famous Seabury investigation seem as mild as dishwater.

The scandal involves New York mortgage companies and the receivers appointed when they went into bankruptcy during the depression. New York judges appointed their pals as receivers, and their pals, in turn, proceeded to charge fancy fees at the expense of the mortgage bondholders. For instance, they would pay ten dollars for a ton of coal and charge up twenty dollars.

Young John Amen, Brooklyn special prosecutor and a Democrat, has run into this scandal and is pushing his investigation to the limit. The probe probably means death to Democratic rule in New York.

Social Security Fight
Behind those secret conferences of Secretary Morgenthau and a group of prominent economists is a sharp inner circle scrap over liberalization of the old-age pension provisions of the Social Security Act.

Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the Social Security Board insists that any extension of benefits be on a strictly pay-as-you-go basis; that is, the aged should contribute their share before they get pensions.

Others oppose this policy on the ground that it means taxing huge sums annually out of the national buying power and piling them up in the Treasury as idle and useless reserves. They argue that Social Security funds should be paid out to the people they were intended to aid. Otherwise, they warn, the various old-age pension movements will force some drastic inflationary scheme through Congress.

Backing Altmeyer in his tight-fisted stand are Dr. Jacob Viner, Canadian-born economics professor of the University of Chicago; and Dr. Winfield Riefel, faculty member of the Institute for Advanced Study. Both are strong anti-spenders.

As a member of Morgenthau's private brain trust, Viner advised against a new spending program after the 1937 slump, arguing that conditions would right themselves in the spring. When his airy predictions failed to materialize, he was shelved. But recently he has been recalled into consultation.

This probably will be the most important old-age pension question to be ironed out by Congress.

Congressmen Kennedy

SCENE: The telephone switchboard at the Capitol.

VOICES: The Incoming Call, and the Capital Operator.

"Give me Congressman Kennedy, please."

"Which Congressman Kennedy, please?"

"Congressman Kennedy of New York."

"Which Congressman Kennedy of New York, please?"

"Congressman M. J. Kennedy."

"Which Mr. M. J. Kennedy?"

"The one from New York City."

"They are both from New York City."

Note—Two Manhattan districts are represented by Martin J. Kennedy and by Michael J. Kennedy, both Democrats.

spending his money and filling his pockets with his own I.O.U.'s? Or "can an insurance company create a reserve by spending its income of premium money and putting its own bonds in its vaults?" or "can you eat your cake and save it for another meal?"

There is no social security reserve fund. What is reported as such by high government officials is but the product of the printing press. The only part social security money plays in its making is to tell when to stop the press. This stopping-the-press part is important, however. If the press should inadvertently grind out a few million, or billion or trillion of bonds or social security reserves, the measure of the social security we are getting would be too apparent.

But while of printing press origin, the reserve is not inflationary in character. It serves, rather, a two-fold purpose.

If the money raised by taxing payrolls and envelopes should be used for old age benefits, it would not be available for other government expenses and other sources of revenue would have to be taxed to replace it. The reserve is the device used to keep the public in general and the working man in particular, from seeing other taxes are kept lower by reason of the tax on pay envelopes. Exploitation of the workman is easier when he is led to believe he is getting social security in return for the money taken from his hard earned pay.

A second purpose is found in the following: The securities of the reserve draw interest which when collected by a general taxation of the country, becomes available for further increase of government expenditures, while the pretext of an increased reserve hides that fact.

AFL Mess

There was a very good reason why AFL moguls so abruptly ceased jubilating over the cut-throat row in the CIO United Auto Workers. A fight just as vicious has broken out in Detroit between two of their own unions—the United Brewery Workers, an industrial union, and the Teamsters, a craft organization.

Unlike the UAW row, which has not affected the auto industry, this AFL vendetta has shut down the leading breweries in Detroit and threatens to tie up hauling and trucking throughout Michigan.

Jurisdictional wars between the Brewery Workers and Teamsters are an old story. They have been at it for years. The present explosion arose out of a raid by the Teamsters on the union brewery drivers. When the Brewery Workers fought back by going into the courts, the Teamsters called a strike tying up the breweries in Detroit.

Caught in the middle of this family fight are the breweries, who have had contracts with the Brewery Workers for years and whose present contract still has two years to run. But even though no question of wages or hours is involved, their plants have had to shut down.

Note—Asked what he was going to do about it, AFL President William Green replied through his publicity agent, "We are keeping a strict hands-off attitude. We are taking no part in this affair."

GOP Martin

Representative Joe Martin is telling colleagues that since his election as Republican Floor Leader he feels "like a bird in a gilded cage."

One of the rewards that went with his new job is an ornate office suite expensively furnished with a thick carpet, rich cherry furniture, a glittering 300-pound glass chandelier and a special elevator just outside the door.

Most Congressmen would be delighted with this ritzy layout, but not Joe. A newspaperman by profession and a bachelor by preference, he has simple tastes, dislikes swank. He would much prefer his old plain and rugged office, but the ornate suite goes with his job and there is nothing he can do about it.

"I'm lost in the place," laments Joe, "and I get lonesome, too. It isn't the kind of a place folks drop in to chin for a while. It scares them, it's too fancy."

Note—Actually Martin is in no danger of being isolated. The GOP has not had as popular a leader since the late Nick Longworth.

Cold Weather Requires Careful Treatment of the Skin

In winter the ice, the cold and exposure to snow and rain are likely to produce severe effects on skins not properly protected. The least of the disturbances is a redness of nose. The color scheme is aided by those people who turn blue with cold.

The commonest complaint is chapping or roughness of the skin, and perhaps the most serious next to frost bite is the chilblain.

Dry skins are usually those which are called "fine." In the dry skin the fat content is little. Furthermore, there is little perspiration on the dry skin because the glands are smaller and less in amount.

The obvious answer to the bad effects of cold on the dry skin is protection of the skin by the use of suitable fats. It is not possible to protect the skin by taking large amounts of fat internally because the difficulty lies with the glands that are in the skin and not with the fat that is in the skin. Therefore the dry skin is supplied with fat by the use of creams.

People with a dry skin must also avoid the use of alcoholic and astringent lotions which will quite certainly increase the dryness. The powders, lotions and creams used on a dry skin must of course be chosen individually.

People whose lips chap and become rough may prevent this condition by applying a suitable grease or an oily lipstick to the lips before exposing them to the cold. A bad habit is to bite chapped lips and pull away small portions of skin. This results in small wounds which become crusted and offer the possibility of infection.
